US EQUESTRIAN'S 2019 ANNUAL MEETING: THE TAKE-HOME POINTS

By US Equestrian Communications Department

US Equestrian President Murray Kessler. Photo by Taylor Pence/US Equestrian.

Entering the third year of the Strategic Plan, US Equestrian President Murray Kessler told Annual Meeting attendees that equestrian sport's national governing body has much to celebrate and more to accomplish.

US Equestrian members gathered in sunny West Palm Beach, Fla., in January for the organization's Annual Meeting, where President Murray Kessler had good news to report and paid glowing tributes to US Equestrian's many members and volunteers.

The meeting's theme, "Members Make it Happen," seemed especially appropriate at a time when U.S. equestrians are still basking in a season of outstanding results, including 12 medals (three of them gold) at last fall's FEI World Equestrian Games™ Tryon 2018. But Kessler pointed out that, in addition to the unprecedented sporting accomplishments the U.S. achieved last year, US Equestrian members—including active competitors, volunteers, licensed officials, and fans—are "making it happen" in many crucial ways, both in competition and behind the scenes.

During his keynote presentation at the meeting's General Session, Kessler noted that the membership has grown dramatically since US Equestrian implemented its ambitious Strategic Plan in 2017. Kessler reported that membership has jumped by 35% since the plan's launch and by 76% since 2016, for a total of more than 144,000.

That's powered growth in other important areas, too. Revenues have climbed, rising eight percent, while the organization's reserves are up 16% since the Strategic Plan's implementation. Sponsorship, too, continues to expand; the 12 sponsors added in 2018 bring the total number of partners and sponsors to 69.

Kessler described the Strategic Plan's five-step "virtuous circle" that has led to this growth, and he detailed key developments and accomplishments for each step in 2018:

Step 1: Improve Core Processes and Capabilities

- US Equestrian's new headquarters, scheduled to open in 2019, will save over $300,000 annually
- Outsourcing the USEF lab to the University of Kentucky, where Dr. Scott Stanley will oversee laboratory operations
- Other initiatives, including creation of a Calendar Management Task Force, competition management training, staff training for professionalism, and new rule-change communications and deadlines

Step 2: Ensure Safety, Fairness, and Enjoyment for Members

- Safe Sport became a major topic of conversation in 2018 with Congress passing a law authorizing the U.S. Center for SafeSport to respond to reports of sexual misconduct within the U.S. Olympic and Paralympic movement, including US Equestrian. US Equestrian passed a rule that all adult competing members age 18 and older must have completed the three-module SafeSport training by January 1, 2019, in order to be eligible to compete at USEF-licensed events.

US Equestrian also launched the "You Are Not Alone" campaign to raise awareness of the importance of Safe Sport and the training. More than 33,000 adult competing members have completed the training to date.

- A new therapeutic use exemption status for pergolide was announced
- The Equine Transaction Transparency Task Force was formed and activated to focus on education, transparency, and enforcement
- USEF Lite (formerly Competition Lite) has added 80 new competitions to the calendar that were not previously licensed by USEF. US Equestrian continues to reach out to the grassroots level of the sport and alliance partners to grow this program.
- The USEF Disaster Relief Fund passed the $1 million mark in total funds raised.

Step 3: Provide a sufficient pathway for athletes to win at the highest levels and inspire the next generation

- Top-tier leadership for the U.S. team
- New sport development initiatives, have proven that investment in these programs and others is bringing growth to the sport
- Unprecedented wins in U.S. sport in 2018 included
- 12 medals won at the FEI World Equestrian Games™ 2018, including three gold medals, five silver medals, and four bronze medals
- 116 USEF National Championships were awarded across the disciplines.

Step 4: Marketing Spreads the Word

- The Joy campaign continues through television, print, social media, and events across the breeds and disciplines.
- US Equestrian magazine returned to print, with four issues reaching all members for a total of about 360,000 mailed issues, nearly doubling the circulation to 90,000 per issue.
- ShopUSEF increased sales by nearly 50%, with the Ariat Official Team Apparel at the forefront of those sales.
- The Joy Tour made over 20 stops across the country, including national championships, WEG, Equine Affaire, the Intercollegiate Horse Shows Association, and other educational symposiums and events.
- The USEF Network helped drive membership and value, adding 33,512 members, streaming over 50 events, with over 1 million plays, and 300,000 hours of on-demand content viewed.
- The Learning Center released 20 new videos in 2018, with 270,000 total views and 28 videos sponsored. SmartPak came on board as a Gold Level Learning Center sponsor.

Step 5: Resulting in Growing Membership, as described in the membership growth figures mentioned above.

Following Kessler's report, senior staff—led by US Equestrian CEO Bill Moroney—elaborated on 2018 results and 2019 projects. Here are some of the take-home messages from those reports:

- Safe Sport: As part of its continuing commitment to Safe Sport, US Equestrian will implement policies protecting minors and roll out SafeSport training for youth athletes by the end of the first quarter.
- Rule Enforcement and Hearings: Plans call for education and transparency around the rules and hearing processes.
- Finance and Operations: In an effort to reduce members' costs, US Equestrian is working to automate post-competition reports, implement paperless credit-card transactions, establish an automatic member call-back service, and offer a telephonic membership renewal process for Customer Care.
- Information and Technology: A "flex membership" concept is under consideration in an effort to remove the Show Pass burden from competition organizers.
- Competition and Athlete Services: In an effort to lower barriers for organizers and members, US Equestrian is working to refine the competition management program, provide FEI online entry training athletes, and automate online entries.
- Licensed Officials: A new online application system, a new clinic information request system with affiliates, and clinic calendar promotions are the top goals for 2019.
- Marketing and Communications: Evaluating competing and fan member benefits, strategic investment for exclusive content distribution for USEF Network, and expanding and optimizing sponsor programs for maximum impact are current priorities.
- Drugs and Medications: The department is working on implementing online-only filing of Medication Report Forms. Also under consideration: enhanced sample-collection training for veterinarians, as well as educating athletes on sample collection and supplement research.
- Compliance: Plans include increasing venue evaluations, town halls and forums, more education about the compliance program, and working with affiliates to develop and refine competition standards.
- International Sport Development: Points on a lengthy list of goals include setting performance indicators for each athlete; identifying and aiding development of and recognition of young athletes; developing world-class coaches, managers, chefs d'equipe, and licensed officials and launching an Equestrian Coaching Academy; enhancing the Sports Science and Medicine

2018 NRHA PROFESSIONALS OF THE YEAR NAMED

Each year, the National Reining Horse Association (NRHA) affiliates are invited to nominate their favorite NRHA Professionals for top honors in one of the following categories: Professional Horseman of the Year, Professional Horsewoman of the Year, Non Pro Coach of the Year, Youth Coach of the Year, and Up-and-Coming Trainer of the Year. Nominees must exemplify excellence in the reining community and are chosen based on their mastery and contribution to promoting the sport of reining and NRHA. Below are the winners for each category, who will receive their award at the 2019 NRHA Convention & Awards Banquet, held February 6-9 in Oklahoma City.

NRHA Professional Horseman of the Year – Dan Huss

Dan Huss' career in the saddle began over 30 years ago. Pursuing his passion, he double majored in science and equestrian studies at the University of Findlay, where he stayed to teach for 20 years. It was in the early 2000s when Huss and his wife, Wendy, decided to instead pursue the training process he had developed at Findlay (breaking down each maneuver into a few steps, allowing a client to master it, and then moving on to the next). Their first stop was Double Run Farms in North Carolina, where Huss trained Wimpys Little Step, a well-known sire in the reining industry that went on to win the 2002 NRHA Futurity. The adventure didn't stop there; Chicago, Illinois was where they then spent the next three years, developing a successful training program for non pro rider, Jose Vasquez.

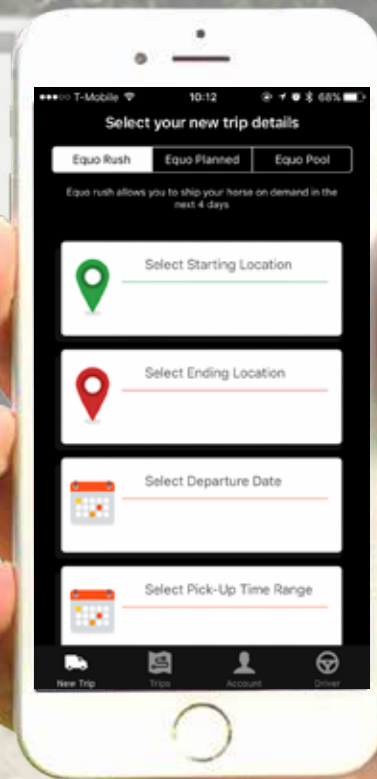

In 2006, Dan and Wendy Huss were able to set up Even Odd Farms, their own training facility. Here, they made a name for themselves before moving to Scottsdale, Arizona for its potential to grow their business in the reining industry. Huss continues to coach top level non pros and youth riders at Huss Performance Horses while also bringing home big NRHA titles himself. His NRHA Lifetime Earnings (LTE) exceed $550,000 with many championship titles and finalist qualifications in the NRHA Derby, NRHA Futurity, All American Quarter Horse Congress, and many more. He also helped the U.S. Reining Team bring home a gold medal in the FEI World Equestrian Games (WEG) in 2018 where he also took home an individual silver medal. To top off his accomplishments, not only a reiner but also as a horseman, was his crowd-wowing, bridleless run on Ms Dreamy at the AQHA World Championship Show in the Senior Reining. That moment will remain a part of reining history.

NRHA Professional Horsewoman of the Year – Abby Lengel

Abby Lengel's passion for reining was sparked by a chance lesson taken on a reining horse with Drake Johnson, a Colorado NRHA Professional. Since 2007, when her reining career got its start in youth 14-18 and rookie competitions, the Colorado native has had great success in the show arena as an assistant trainer and as a non pro coach.

Lengel graduated with a degree in Equine Industry and Business at West Texas A&M University. Shortly after she started working as an assistant trainer for NRHA Million Dollar Rider Casey Deary. Between the trust Deary instilled in her early on with training high-end prospects and the passion she brings into the sport – from mucking stalls to training a horse off of the release of pressure – her talent is evident. She credits a great deal of success to the “corrective criticism” and encouragement Deary has provided since 2014. She continues to excel, placing high in the biggest NRHA competitions, all while keeping the trust of the horse as well as the horses' mental health front of mind.

NRHA Non Pro Coach of the Year – Dave Moore

With over 20 years of experience and dedication to the sport of reining, Dave Moore has been said to “exemplify what NRHA stands for.” This is demonstrated through his promotion of reining from the local to national levels. Moore and his wife Kim live in Southwest Ranches, Florida where their ranch, Sheridan Oaks Stables, exists as a hub to many reining clinics and lessons.

Moore has coached numerous youth, open, and non pro circuit champions; however, he “does not place emphasis on winning, but being the best that you and your partner can be on any given day.” His nomination said, “He teaches his students to respect the sport and their partner.” His talents extend past teaching the skills needed to be a good horseman and successfully show in reining. The passion Moore holds for horses and reining show every time he is with a student as “he has no clue what a one-hour lesson is.” The time spent with his students always exceeds the allotted time; he even makes himself available on his days off from work. He “is very selfless and is always encouraging all exhibitors, not just the members in his barn, to be the best they can be.” During his involvement within NRHA, Moore has had much success in the show ring as an exhibitor, a judge, and most importantly, a coach.

NRHA Youth Coach of the Year – Dean Latimer

Dean Latimer of Marietta, Oklahoma first showed with NRHA in 1985. With over 30 years dedicated to the sport as an exhibitor, judge, and trainer, Latimer’s knowledge of NRHA Rules and Regulations accentuates his credibility in teaching youth reiners. As an “excellent, patient mentor,” the lessons taught in the arena by Latimer carry through to other parts of life for many. His ability to never miss a step on top of his “articulate and detailed” explanations cause him to be an impeccable coach. He is known to talk his students through each maneuver of the pattern they are about to run, provide encouragement before go-time, and end with “now go have some fun.”

Latimer not only excels in coaching, but also in being a skilled rider in the show pen. Boasting an NRHA LTE in excess of $160,000, he has worked for both Loomis Ranch and Arcese Quarter Horses as well as shown in the NRHA Futurity, NRHA Derby, and many more elite shows. Latimer has also had individual success at the All American Quarter Horse Congress and has had many students achieve accolades in prestigious events as well—an exhibition of his premier coaching abilities! His passion for the sport doesn’t stop there. He raises, trains, and sells his own horses, sits on the NRHA Judges Committee, assists with the NRHA Judges School, and has been a large advocate in NRHA’s Respect the Horse. Respect the Sport. campaign.

NRHA Up-and-Coming Trainer of the Year – Trent Harvey

Trent Harvey became a member of NRHA in 2013 and has had much success within the industry as both a trainer and rider. Spending a combined five years working as an assistant trainer to NRHA Million Dollar Riders Casey Deary and Jordan Larson, he has learned from some of the best in the industry. Not only does his training combine the finest techniques from Deary and Larson, but his family’s longstanding roots in the sport ignite a separate passion altogether. Dale Harvey, Trent’s father, was an NRHA Member for over 20 years, and remains a big inspiration to the reining community as a whole, even after his passing in 2017. “Following the death of his father, [Trent] has easily stepped into his shoes.”

Beyond helping future generations of reiners in Marietta, Oklahoma, Harvey continues to make big marks in the show pen. He has won many awards and titles at NRHA events such as the NRHA Derby and NRHA Futurity with over $100,000 in NRHA LTE. There is no doubt that he is qualified to earn the Up-and-Coming Trainer of the Year title as “a knowledgeable horseman and all-around good guy.”

UPDATED USEF SAFESPORT TRAINING TIPS AND FAQ

Here is the latest updated FAQ from FEI regarding SafeSport Training for athletes. Remember - to compete in a CRI, if you are 18 or older, you must have completed this training to compete.

training before competing if they have an active senior competing membership OR

b. Take the training within 30 days of renewing their membership at the show

2. Does an entry need to be refused if the owner, trainer and/or rider/handler has not done their SafeSport training?

No, however if any of the individuals listed above have a current, senior competing membership and are listed as ineligible due to Safe Sport Training, they will need to complete the SafeSport training in order to compete. They may go back to their hotel, residence or other location and complete the training and bring copies of their 'SafeSport Trained' certificate for proof of training to be allowed to compete. If they return with the 'SafeSport Trained' certificate on the first day of competition, their points will count.

3. Will the competition software that "connects with USEF" to check members and suspensions have the ineligible members listed also?

The Suspension List will be integrated into the Ineligibility list and the reason for ineligibility will be listed in the details field.

4. When a secretary checks eligibility as entries are coming in, will they be required to continue to check for eligibility up to the start of the show?

Yes, since the memberships are on a rolling calendar year, it is possible someone may become ineligible prior to the start of the show, but after the ineligibility list has already been checked.

5. What if someone doesn't have a computer to take the SafeSport training?

They can take it at their local library, or if at the show, the hotel or library near the show.

1. What does it mean if there is no date in the SafeSport training field for an individual in my software?

This means that they have not taken the training and will either

a. Need to take the

6. How quickly does the completed SafeSport training show up?

24-48 hours

7. Is the "age of 18" requirement calculated by competition year, riding age, or actual age?

Actual age

8. Do riders who turn 18 during the competition year have to take the SafeSport training?

Yes

9. If a rider turns 18 during a show, do they need to take the SafeSport training to continue competing?

No, they have 30 days to complete the training.

10. Will the SafeSport training completion information be included on membership cards?

Yes, the online membership cards will have this information.

11. If the 30 day grace period for someone to take the SafeSport training expires during a competition do we have to ask them to leave?

No, and their points from the current show would still count, however, they will go on the ineligibility list until they successfully complete the training.

12. Does a Foreign rider have to take SafeSport Training?

Yes if he/she has a USEF Competing membership and is 18-years-old or older.

13. If a horse is shown and the owner has taken the SafeSport training, but the senior member trainer or rider has not and is overdue, will that horse's points count?

No

14. If the senior member owner, rider, or trainer was ineligible at the start of the show, but does the training after the show starts, will the horse's points count?

If the senior competing member owner, rider, or trainer completes the SafeSport training on the first day of competition, prior to competing and presents the 'SafeSport Trained' certificate to the secretary, then they can compete and their points will count. If the SafeSport training is completed after the first day of competition and the 'SafeSport Trained certificate' is presented to the secretary, they can compete, but their points will not be good.

15. Will the competitions be penalized if they miss an ineligible person and allow them to show?

The responsibility to maintain eligibility rests with the member. Disciplinary action may be taken against a competition where there's blatant disregard for the Safe Sport training requirement or a pattern of permitting ineligible people to participate exists.

16. If someone is eligible on the start day of the competition but becomes ineligible during the competition, should the competition allow them to continue to compete?

Yes, the eligibility for a competition is based on the start date of that competition.

17. If the API/website searches do not state that the competitor is ineligible but there is no Safe Sport Training Date, are they ineligible?

No, the USEF API/website searches will display if the competitor is ineligible. If it does not display anything, then the competitor is eligible to compete.

18. If the owner of the horse on the entry blank is a farm and the Active Owners of the farm are ineligible due to Safe Sport Training, is the horse allowed to compete?

Yes, the farm is not required to take Safe Sport Training and thus the horse is eligible. The Active Owners of the farm are not allowed to compete themselves in the roles of Rider, Trainer, Coach, etc. until they complete Safe Sport Training.

19. If a horse is leased and the lease has been recorded with USEF and the lessee is an active member who has completed their Safe Sport Training, will the horse be allowed to compete and will its points count if the actual owner of the horse has not completed their Safe Sport Training?

Yes, per USEF rules, the lessee of a horse is considered the owner of the record of the horse during the period of the lease.

Adding to the highly-anticipated World's Greatest Horseman is the inaugural World's Greatest Youth Horseman present by Texas Lighting LLC. Young cow horse competitors and their trusty equine athletes have the opportunity to showcase their talent in all four events.

The NRCHA Celebration of Champions offers more than just good watching. Spectators can shop till they drop at our Sponsor Showcase, throughout the week, or at the Winter Premier Horse Sale, held on Saturday, February 23. And last, but certainly not least, on Friday, February 22, NRCHA

National Champions will be recognized and celebrated during the Year End Banquet in the Round Up Inn banquet room at 7:30pm.

The NRCHA is inviting you to participate in all of our fun-filled activities, and we look forward to meeting you Cowtown!

Tickets for the NRCHA DT Horses World's Great Horseman will go on sale Friday, January 18, 2019, at Noon Central time.

The National Reined Cow Horse Association DT Horses World's Greatest Horseman, one of the most thrilling events in the Western performance horse industry, is returning to the historic Will Rogers Memorial Center, Fort Worth, Texas, for the sixth consecutive year. In this unique event, top-notch horseman pilot a chosen elite bridle horse, using one bit, through four phases of competition - herd work, rein work, steer stopping and fence work. Thank you to presenting sponsor, DT Horses, for making this event even more exciting with a $75,000 added purse on the line.

NEW for 2019 - Tickets for the World's Greatest Horseman Finals, held on Saturday, February 23, 2019, are RESERVED SEATING and $25. The first phase of the finals, the herd work, will be held in the Coliseum and will start at approximately 3pm. The herd work is free of charge and open seating. The rein work, steer stopping and fence work will be held in the John Justin Arena beginning at approximately 5pm. The last three phases of the finals are a ticketed event with assigned seats.

Admission is free all other days of the show.

Click here for the link to purchase your reserved seating tickets. Tickets will go on sale Friday, January 18, at 12pm CST.

YOUTH SPOTLIGHT - OLIVIA MARINO

Age: 16 years
High School Junior

Accomplishments:

- 2018 NRHA Youth 14-18 World Title
- 2018 TNRHA Youth 14-18 Year-End Champion
- 2018 FRHA Saddle Series Champion
- 2018 HDRHA Youth 14-18 Year-End Champion
- 2017 HDRHA Youth 14-18 Year-End Champion
- 2016 HDRHA Youth 13 and Under Year-End Champion

How long have you been reining?

I've been riding since I was able to sit up with my mom. I did barrels for about a year and drill team. I've been doing reining now for about five years.

How has reining impacted your life?

It has taught me so much, especially this past year. It's taught me to never give up on a dream. And that, you are going to lose sometimes, and it's ok to lose.

What do you want to be when you grow up?

I'm not exactly sure what I want to be. I've thought about a lot of things, but I'm just not sure.

Where do you hope to see yourself in five or ten years?

In about 5 years, I hope to be riding for a college equestrian team. After college, I'm not quite sure what I want to do, but whatever I'm doing, I hope I'm successful. And I hope to be still showing.

How has your trainer influenced your life?

I train with Daniel Hill, and he has been great; especially this past year, I was running for a title. I really couldn't have done it without him. He brought my horse everywhere. He made sure I was ready for my shows. He's put up with me, but he's been great!

What do you consider to be your greatest accomplishment?

The biggest achievement was probably this past year. I won the NRHA 14-18 Youth World Title. It was very tough, a very long year, but it was so much fun!

What horse did you ride to that achievement?

I rode Knotty After Midnight – a super nice horse. I love him. He's the best. This is the first year I've shown him, and he's been consistent all year. He's super sweet. I couldn't have asked for a better horse all year. He's amazing.

Do you have any advice for younger riders?

If you have a dream, don't let anything stand in your way to achieve that dream. When things get tough, don't ever give up.

2019 NRCHA BOARD OF DIRECTORS DETERMINED

The National Reined Cow Horse Association membership has elected four representatives to the NRCHA Board of Directors.

Dr. Joe Carter, Dan Roeser, Jake Telford and Cayley Wilson will volunteer their time and knowledge to serve on NRCHA's governing body. Dr. Joe Carter, Washington, Oklahoma, has served on the NRCHA Board for five years, chairing the Animal Welfare Committee during this time. NRCHA Hall of Fame member Dan Roeser, Marsing, Idaho, was instrumental in creating key NRCHA programs, such as the regional horse show system and NRCHA World Show. Returning to the Board is NRCHA Million Dollar Rider Jake Telford, of Caldwell, Idaho. Telford has been a dedicated Show Committee Chairman and Rules Committee member for several years. Cayley Wilson of Abbotsford, British Columbia, is a new addition to the Board. Wilson is a top NRCHA professional and premier event judge.

Positions that will remain in office for 2019: Todd Crawford, Paul Baily, Todd Bergen, Corey Cushing, Diane Edwards, Amanda Gardiner, Boyd Rice and Jon Roeser.

The Board of Directors consists of 12 elected and appointed members. The NRCHA Board of Directors will meet in Fort Worth, Texas, before the start of the Celebration of Champions, to elect officers (President, Vice President, Secretary, and Treasurer) and Executive Committee members. At the conclusion of officer elections, the new President may appoint up to four additional Board members they feel would best represent the general membership and uphold the goals and values of the association.

Following the February Board meeting, a complete list of officers will be available at NRCHA.com.
