ANDREA FAPPANI CLAIMS LEVEL 4 OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP WITH ALL BETTSS ARE OFF

Ten days of intense, world-class competition culminated Saturday, December 6, with the National Reining Horse Association (NRHA) Futurity Open Finals. The NRHA

Futurity, held at State Fair Park in Oklahoma City, featured top horses and riders from across the globe.

Thanks to the Futurity Challenge donors, for the first time in NRHA history the 2020 Level (L) 4 Open Futurity Champion earned $250,000.

Prior to the start of the MS Diamonds TX L4 Open Finals, NRHA Million Dollar Sire Shiners Voodoo Dr, NRHA Million Dollar Dam Princess In Diamonds, NRHA Million Dollar Dam Snip O Gun and NRHA Million Dollar Owner Hilldale Farm were all honored.

With a precise and powerful performance, NRHA Six Million Dollar Rider Andrea Fappani rode All Bettss Are Off to a score of 225, which earned the prestigious championship and a quarter-million dollars.

Owned, bred and nominated by Arcese Quarter Horses USA, All Bettss Are Off is by NRHA Twelve Million Dollar Sire Gunner and out of Wimpys Little Chic. Fappani's win tonight helped push Wimpys Little Chic to NRHA Million Dollar Dam status. Wimpys Little Chic won more than a half-million dollars in her career, including the NRHA Futurity, Derby, and National Reining Breeders Classic (NRBC).

Fappani dedicated his win to Eleuterio Arcese of Arcese Quarter Horses, saying, "Mr. Arcese said it would be a dream come true for him to win another one. He has been such a big player, and I really want to dedicate this to him.

I've got a huge group of people who support me and I want to thank everybody."

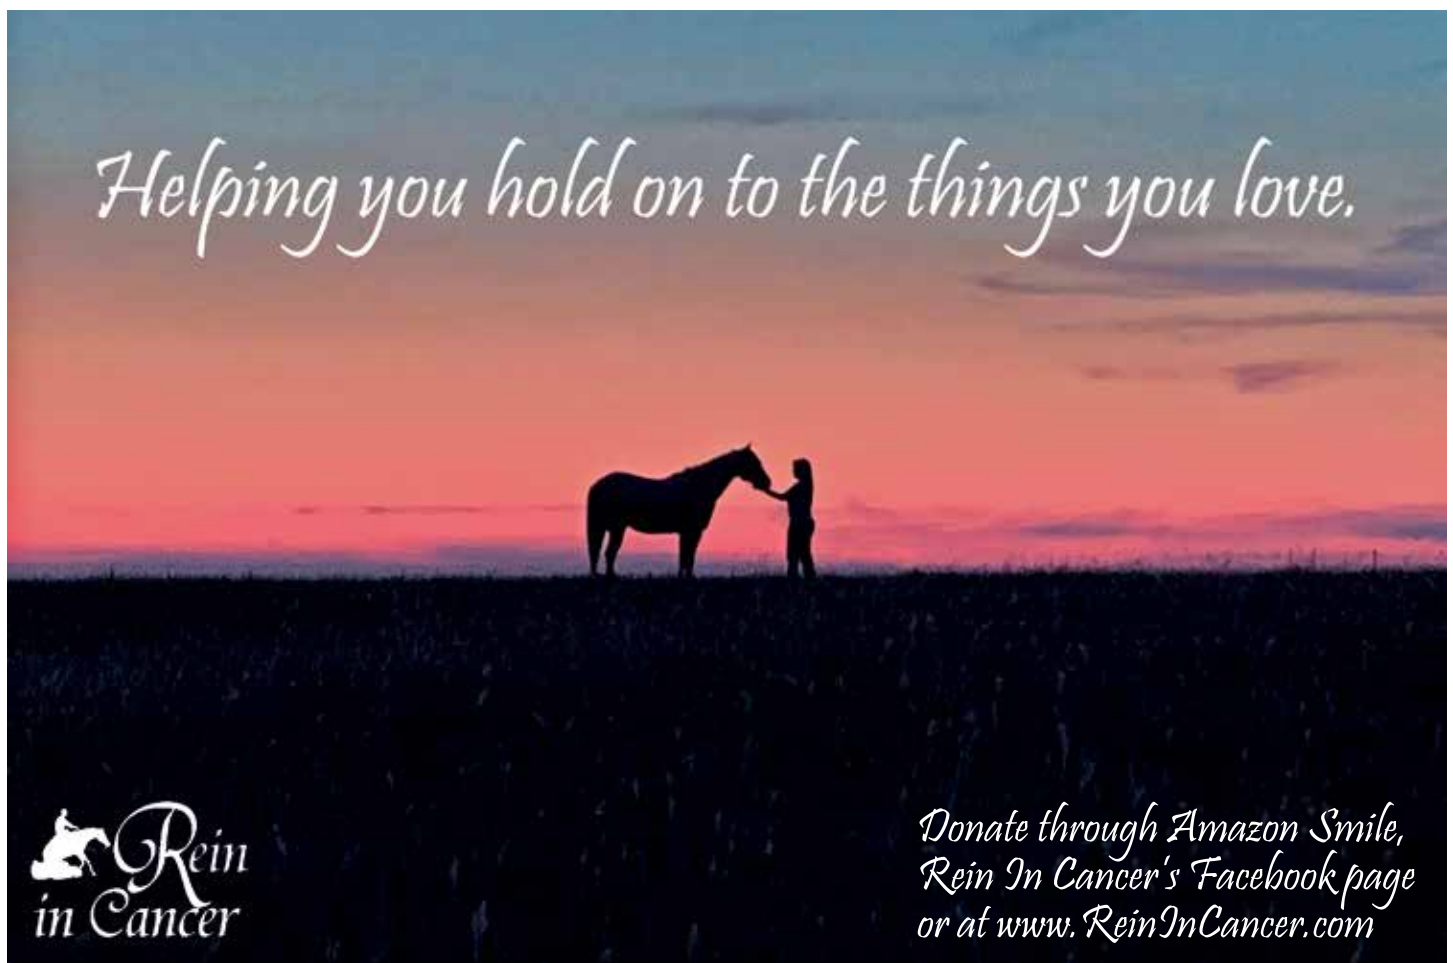

In a year rife with unpredictability, Fappani is thrilled to earn the fourth NRHA Open Futurity Championship of his career. "This year has been so crazy, but with the Futurity paying a record $250,000 for the first time, it's just amazing to win it," he said.

Having three horses out of his Scottsdale, Arizona-based program secure top 10 finishes in the Open Futurity was a proud achievement for Fappani, who added that he is grateful the Futurity was able to proceed without interruption.

"I enjoy all the other shows, but the young horses are why I wake up in the morning. To come to the Futurity and show is why I do what I do," he said.

Fappani chose All Bettss Are Off from a group of prospects and said the horse stood out to him from the beginning.

"He's a super-talented horse," Fappani said. "He's a little different than what I'm used to and I think that pushed me. He was so talented. I really had to push myself to adapt to him rather than ask him to adapt to me."

Achieving scores of 220 in the preliminaries, 220.5 in the L4 Semi-Finals presented by Not Ruf At All and Tamarack Ranch, and finally a 225 in the MS Diamonds TX Finals, Fappani accomplished his goal of steadily building momentum toward winning the title.

He added that one aspect of shows being canceled in 2020 enabled him to have more time at home to ride and train.

“We had a great group of horses, but I think because we were home so much, we were able to prepare them really well. I told Tish, ‘I think I’m set up to do as good as I’ve ever done at the Futurity, so I think I’m just going to enjoy it,’” Fappani said.

The L4 Open Champion has the option to receive a one-year lease for a gooseneck trailer or a $10,000 credit toward a new trailer build from Kyle Zanetti Trailers, Official Trailer of the NRHA.

MS Diamonds TX, Official Diamond Jeweler of NRHA, presented the L4 Open Champion rider and the owner of the winning horse with custom-made handcrafted NRHA Futurity Open Championship rings. Each L4 Open finalist owner was presented a commemorative pin from MS Diamonds TX during last night’s rider introductions.

Fappani was awarded a saddle from Bob’s Custom Saddles with silver from Montana Silversmith’s, a Montana Silversmith’s trophy buckle, Anderson Bean boots, Classic Equine product, a Platinum Performance gift certificate, a Bluebonnet Feeds gift certificate, a SmartPak gift card, one stomach scope from Dr. Joe Carter and Oklahoma Equine Hospital, a Shorty’s Caboy Hattery certificate, and a garment bag by Brandt Blankets.

Sebastian Petroll Wins L3 & L2 Open Championships Riding Dunit The Walla Way

Sebastian Petroll, of Whitesboro, Texas, says he’s grateful to show a horse with as much try as Dunit The Walla Way. Petroll and the big-hearted filly won both the NRHA Futurity L3 and L2 Open Championships thanks to their score of 218.5. They also finished 12th in the Open L4 Finals for combined total earnings of $53,879. Owned and nominated by Ellen Lloyd Cummins, Dunit The Walla Way is by NRHA Three Million Dollar Sire Walla Walla Whiz and out of Dunit The Gunner Way.

“We bought her mother several years ago,” Petroll said. “Her owner, Ellen Cummins, and I both showed her. It’s always fun when you are part of the whole process with a horse.”

Petroll says Dunit The Walla Way is a horse that he can always depend on to perform.

“She has a heart that I don’t know how it fits into her little body,” he said. “She is so kind and she always wants to be with you. You can count on her 100 percent of the time. That’s what makes her so special; that paired with some obvious talent, but mentally she is just very special.”

Petroll’s plan for the preliminary round was to make a safe run that was enough to get to the Open L4 semi-finals, sponsored by Not Ruf At All & Tamarack Ranch, which he accomplished handily with a 219.5. His aim was similar for the semi-finals. “I knew if I could finish in the upper half that I should be fine, so I tried not to use up my horse. In the Finals I just tried to get as good of a run together as I could, and it worked.”

With all the uncertainty in 2020, Petroll says he is happy that the Futurity went on uninterrupted.

“It means everything to get to show here, not just for me personally, but it’s very important that we were able to have the event for the sake of the entire industry,” Petroll said.

He is also thankful for Dunit The Walla Way’s owner, Cummins, who has been a client with him for more than a decade.

“She’s just been amazing. She’s a pleasure to work with and very important to our program. We can only do this because of all our great owners,” Petroll said, adding, “Also, my wife Melanie, she rode this horse for big stretches during her 2-year-old year. Without her, I couldn’t do this.”

For the L3, Petroll received a Bob’s Custom Saddle sponsored by Glycoguard. For the L2, Petroll was presented with a Bob’s Custom Saddle sponsored by Arcese Quarter Horses. For both the L3 and L2 championship, Petroll won a Montana Silversmith’s trophy buckle, Anderson Bean boots, Classic Equine product, a Platinum Performance gift certificate, a Bluebonnet Feeds gift certificate, a SmartPak gift card, one stomach scope from Dr. Joe Carter and Oklahoma Equine Hospital, a Shorty’s Caboy Hattery certificate, and a garment bag by Brandt Blankets.

Dallas Cunningham Wins L1 Open Co-Championship Riding RFR Voodoos Fuego

NRHA Professional Dallas Cunningham, of Mitchell, South Dakota, rode RFR Voodoos Fuego to share top honors in the NRHA Futurity L1 Open, and tie for second in both L2 and L3 for a $24,348 payday. RFR Voodoos Fuego, by NRHA Million Dollar Sire Shiners Voodoo Dr out of Show N Tag, is owned and was nominated by Peter Smith.

“I showed him at Vegas and won the Level 2 there,” Cunningham said. “I showed him in Memphis and he was really good. He was a 218 in the first round, then when I showed him in the Finals and he fell out of lead to be a 224 (in Memphis), but he was awesome there.”

With 2020 being such an unpredictable year, Cunningham says he is thankful that the NRHA was able to produce the Cunningham, who has been training professionally for the past decade, says RFR Voodoos Fuego impressed him from the start.

“He’s a super nice horse. We started him as a 2-year-old and right away I thought he was awesome, I felt he was really special,” Cunningham said.

RFR Voodoos Fuego has been a pleasure for Cunningham to show all year and he had high hopes for the horse coming into the Futurity.

“I love this horse, so I was really looking forward to this show. I’m just dang glad we’re here,” he said, adding that he appreciates the help he gets from the many supporters who’ve assisted him to this point in his career.

“I went from being a bull riding, team roping, colt starter to doing this just by watching [Andrea] Fappani’s videos. I’ve got to thank that guy because he’s changed my career,” Cunningham laughed. “My wife, my customers, everybody is so supportive. I couldn’t do it without any of them.”

cate, a SmartPak gift card, one stomach scope from Dr. Joe Carter and Oklahoma Equine Hospital, a Shorty's Caboy Hattery certificate, and a garment bag by Brandt Blankets.

Rodrigo Nieves Pilots Tagin Stiletto Chics to L1 Open Co-Championship

Rodrigo Nieves has never made the finals at the NRHA Futurity, but he qualified all three of his entries back to compete on Saturday. To top off an already exciting day, Nieves piloted Tagin Stiletto Chics to a 217.5 to tie for the L1 Championship, and finish in a three-way tie for the L2 Reserve Championship.

"We came here, and the first two runs weren't like we expected, but today's run was really good, and we are grateful for that," he shared. In the first go, he and Tagin Stiletto Chics marked a 216.5 but followed that with a 214 in the semi-finals for a 430.5 composite.

Tagin Stiletto Chics is by Gunners Special Nite, unofficially an NRHA Four Million Dollar Sire, and out of Stiletto Tag. "I like how honest he is. He is super honest and a special show horse," Nieves said of the colt.

In addition to a paycheck of $8,959, Nieves was presented with a saddle from Bob's Custom Saddles, a Montana Silversmith's trophy buckle, Anderson Bean boots, Classic Equine product, a Platinum Performance gift certificate, a Bluebonnet Feeds gift certificate, a SmartPak gift card, one stomach scope from Dr. Joe Carter and Oklahoma Equine Hospital, a Shorty's Caboy Hattery certificate, and a garment bag from Brandt Blankets.

Tagin Stiletto Chics is owned and nominated by Jennifer Marley. "Duane Latimer started to ride the horse, and then gave me the opportunity to ride him in Ardmore at the Futurity there," Nieves said, referring to the Southwest

Reining Horse Association Futurity, where he and Tagin Stiletto Chics claimed the reserve title for Levels 1 and 2. "I thank Duane Latimer, the owner, the team at XCS Ranch, my wife and daughter, and my family in Uruguay."

Although originally from Uruguay, Nieves spent 10 years in Brazil, where he got his start with reining horses before moving to the United States. He has worked for Duane Latimer for a year and a half.

In addition to Tagin Stiletto Chics, Nieves qualified Alphasushienterprize (owned by Fernando Botteon) and Theoneyourellookinfor (owned by Eduardo Salgado) back to the L1 Open Futurity Finals.

Shawn Flarida and Whizsicle Win NRHA Open Prime Time Futurity

NRHA Six Million Dollar Rider Shawn Flarida, of Springfield, Ohio, rode Whizsicle to the top of the NRHA Open Futurity Prime Time championship with a 219.5 for owner Arcese Quarter Horses USA. Whizsicle, by SG Frozen Enterprize and out of Miss Whizzletown, was nominated by Jenny Ricotta. Flarida and Whizsicle also finished the L4 Finals in a tie for eighth, bringing total earnings to $30,932.

Flarida, age 51, remarked that tonight was the first time in 25 or more years that he's been eligible to compete in a division other than the Open L4.

"I love to show," Flarida said, "So having another avenue to win money is neat."

Whizsicle was bred and started by Marco Ricotta and Flarida says the horse has been a pleasure to have in his program.

"This is just a really nice horse. I had a little bit of trouble kind of hooking up with him at the beginning of the year but he's coming on and getting strong and finding his pace. He's got such a great brain. He's so pretty in the way he moves and lopes."

In the Finals, Flarida's focus was to avoid penalties and allow Whizsicle's talent to shine.

"My goal was to try and eliminate any penalties on my part, avoid mistakes and let my horse be as good as he could be," Flarida said. "I prepared him last night as good as I thought I could prepare him, and it all played out very well."

Flarida thanked Whizsicle's owner, Mr. Arcese, a man he credits for having owned several of the greatest horses Flarida has had the privilege to ride during his career— Gun-natrashya, Wimpys Little Chic (unofficially the NRHA's newest Million Dollar Dam), and Walla Walla Whiz.

"He's contributed so much to the sport for so many years," Flarida said, adding that he would enjoy showing him at derbies in the future. "We'll have to talk to Mr. Arcese and see what the plan is."

Flarida was awarded a saddle from Bob's Custom Saddles with silver from Montana Silversmith's, a Montana Silver-smith's trophy buckle, Anderson Bean boots, Classic Equine product, a Platinum Performance gift certificate, a Bluebonnet Feeds gift certificate, a SmartPak gift card, one stomach scope from Dr. Joe Carter and Oklahoma Equine Hospital, a Shorty's Caboy Hattery certificate, and a garment bag by Brandt Blankets.

MANDY MCCUTCHEON AND SHINING AT NITE WIN NRHA CINCH NON PRO FUTURITY

Great horses and riders were shining under the Friday-night lights of the Jim Norick Coliseum at State Fair Park in Oklahoma City. The National Reining Horse Association (NRHA) CINCH Non Pro Futurity featured the top horses and riders from the preliminary round, and the Level (L)1 champion was decided in an exciting runoff.

To add to the CINCH Non Pro Finals pageantry, NRHA Million Dollar milestones were recognized by an in-arena ceremony prior to the start of the CINCH Non Pro Finals. NRHA's newest Million Dollar Riders Cade McCutcheon, Matt Mills, Martin Muehlstaetter were presented with a special lapel pin courtesy of NRHA Corporate Partner MS Diamonds TX.

"Team" is a word you hear spoken a lot by showmen at the NRHA Futurity. For Mandy McCutcheon, who emerged with a winning score of 221.5 to top the CINCH Non Pro Finals, she attributes her incredible career in large part to her family and the team that stands behind her. The NRHA Two Million Dollar Rider from Aubrey, Texas, began showing reiners at age 12. She won her first NRHA Futurity in 1993 on Hollywoods Striker. The 2020 NRHA CINCH Non Pro Futurity marks at least her 10th NRHA Futurity crown.

McCutcheon rode her home-raised and trained gelding Shining At Nite, by Gunners Special Nite, unofficially the newest NRHA Four Million Dollar Sire, and out of A Shining Sidekick, to earn the coveted CINCH Non Pro payday of $60,000. Thanks to Futurity Challenge Donors this is the first year the Non Pro Futurity Champion has won a $60,000 paycheck. Bred by Tom McCutcheon and owned by Tom and Mandy McCutcheon, Shining At Nite was nominated by Mandy McCutcheon.

"We bred him and raised him," McCutcheon said. "We had his mother off and on. I wish I still had his mother, but Green Valley Ranch has her now and she's in very good hands."

McCutcheon says Shining At Nite was bred to be a winner and shares the heart and propensity to win that his siblings have displayed.

“This has just been an exceptional family of horses for us. [Shining At Nite] has a full brother that Carlee made the Level 4 Futurity Finals on when she was 12, and she took her brother’s record of being the youngest Level 4 finalist,” McCutcheon said. “There’s another one that Kathy Thompson used to show that’s just been a phenomenal show horse. The full siblings and now Shining At Nite have just been great, great horses.”

According to McCutcheon, Shining At Nite doesn’t resemble his siblings physically as much as he does mentally.

“This one doesn’t look like any of the other ones, the other two are sorrel with white faces,” she said. “What they resemble is just having great brains. They’re great show horses. They just go in there and try every time to be a good show horse. He’s shown well every time I’ve shown him. One time he broke gait slowing down showing him, but he was just trying to be too good.”

She had high praise for Shining At Nite’s performance this evening.

“Every maneuver I asked him to do he just stayed hooked up,” McCutcheon said. “He was very good. Once he ran through the gate he just said, ‘Okay, whatever you want me to do.’”

And naturally, McCutcheon has a large and talented team of people behind her to thank for being a part of Shining At Nite’s journey to the winner’s circle.

“Debbie Brown trained him some as a 2-year-old, Trent Harvey trained him some, Cade trained him some, Tom trained him some. Everybody played a part in getting me where I am and that’s really been my whole career and I’m just really lucky to have such a great team around me all the time. My parents have been so supportive for my entire career,” she said.

The CINCH Non Pro Champion has the option to receive a one year lease for a gooseneck trailer, or a $10,000 credit toward a new trailer build, courtesy of Kyle Zanetti Trailers, the Official Trailer of NRHA.

The CINCH Non Pro Champion receives a Bob’s Custom Saddle, a custom Montana Silversmith’s trophy buckle, Anderson Bean boots, Classic Equine product, a Platinum Performance gift certificate, Bluebonnet Feeds gift certificate, a SmartPak gift card, a Shorty’s Caboy Hattery certificate, a Cold Saltwater Spa Treatment from Dr. Carter and Oklahoma Equine Hospital.

Tish Fappani and Joes Genes Win CINCH Non Pro Level 3 Championship

It was a gratifying night for Tish Fappani, who posted a crowd-pleasing 221 aboard Joes Genes to earn the CINCH Non Pro L3 championship and tie for reserve honors in the Non Pro. In all, Fappani earned $53,606 aboard the mare she owns with her husband, Andrea, an NRHA Six Million Dollar Rider. Joes Genes, by Lil Joe Cash and out of Electric Genes, has royal bloodlines. Her win helped unofficially push Lil Joe Cash above the NRHA Million Dollar Sire threshold, adding to the significance of the win.

The Fappanis hope to continue with Joes Genes' genetics and plan to begin doing embryo transfer work so her derby schedule can go on uninterrupted.

With Joes Genes' win making it possible for her sire to gain NRHA Million Dollar Sire status, Tish was proud to have a part in Lil Joe Cash's milestone. "It's awesome to be a part of that. Lil Joe Cash has been

The Fappanis raised and trained Joes Genes at their Scottsdale, Arizona, training facility. Tish nominated Joes Genes to the Futurity program.

"She's a special mare. We bred and raised her, and Andrea showed both her mom and dad," Fappani said. "I climbed on her in April of her 2-year-old year. She's just a cool mare. She's got a huge stop. You would think the way she's bred, knowing her mom, you would think she has some zing, and she does, but she is not a hot mare at all. She's a blast."

Fappani was proud to overcome her own nerves in the preliminary round to qualify for the finals where her mare's full potential shone through.

"She was great in the prelims but I was really nervous," she said. "Just knowing I had one that I could be up there with, I was a little nervous, but she just showed great for me."

Fappani credits Joes Genes for making a rock-solid run in the Finals. "Tonight, I sent her in too fast and that hurt me, but other than that she was right there with me," she said.

a special horse – including when Andrea got him back for Run for a Million," she said.

Expressing thanks for her family and the team behind her, Fappani says the win is even sweeter with her son Luca riding in the same Finals.

"I'm missing my son Jeremy who is in Arizona racing, but of course I thank Andrea and the whole gang. I'm thankful for Luca and for everyone, including Dr. John Newcomb and our amazing farriers," she said.

Fappani was grateful not only to win a title at the NRHA Futurity but also happy that the event was able to happen.

"To show here is huge. It was huge we could hit fall futurities. Since the horse shows started rolling it's been great. We try to follow rules, and it's a different futurity feeling, but everyone is really happy to be showing."

The CINCH Non Pro L3 Champion was awarded a Bob's Custom Saddle, a custom Montana Silversmith's trophy buckle, Anderson Bean boots, Classic Equine product, a Platinum Performance gift certificate, Bluebonnet Feeds gift certificate, a SmartPak gift card, a Shorty's Caboy Hattery certificate, a Cold Saltwater Spa Treatment from Dr. Carter and Oklahoma Equine Hospital.

Jacob Zimmerman Wins CINCH Non Pro Level 2 Championship on Rufin Up The Chics

Jacob Zimmerman, of Springfield Missouri, teamed up with his horse Rufin Up The Chics for a 215.5 and the L2 Non Pro Championship worth $25,741.

Rufin Up The Chics is by Not Ruf At All out of Ms Playalotta Chic, and was nominated by his dad, Justin Zimmerman.

Zimmerman, who celebrated his 16th birthday a week prior to the NRHA Futurity, thanked Arno Honstetter for selling Rufin Up The Chics, a horse he calls “Elon,” to the Zimmerman family.

“I just got him two and a half weeks ago from Arno Honstetter,” Zimmerman said. “My grandpa Vaughn Zimmerman, and my father, Justin Zimmerman, own him. Arno didn’t know if he was ready to show in the Open, so I got him. The situation worked out great for me.”

Zimmerman had never shown Rufin Up The Chics prior to the NRHA Futurity.

“I just rode him as comfortably as I could and hoped for the best,” he said. “I think we’re going to keep him, and if we do, I’m planning to show him next year and the year after that. We will just have to see.”

Zimmerman was proud of how the horse stepped up in a high-pressure situation in the Finals.

“Today I marked a 215.5. He was really good. I couldn’t have asked him to be much better,” he said. “He listened to me and did everything I asked. He could have turned a little bigger, but overall he was very good.”

Zimmerman thanked his trainer, Bobby Avila, Jr., as well as his family and Arno Honstetter for having the horse well trained. “I thank my family the most, my dad Justin, my grandfather Vaughn, and my mom Leah. They helped me get here,” he said.

The CINCH Non Pro L2 Champion was awarded a Bob’s Custom Saddle, a custom Montana Silversmith’s trophy buckle, Anderson Bean boots, Classic Equine product, a Platinum Performance gift certificate, Bluebonnet Feeds gift certificate, a SmartPak gift card, a Shorty’s Caboy Hattery certificate, a Cold Saltwater Spa Treatment from Dr. Carter and Oklahoma Equine Hospital.

Hannah Mitchell and Stars And Stripes Win CINCH Non Pro L1 Futurity Championship

Hannah Mitchell had never competed in a run-off before, but that all changed on Friday night when, at the end of the CINCH Non Pro Futurity Finals, she found herself part of a three-way tie for the L1 Championship. She and her horse, Stars And Stripes, entered the Jim Norick Coliseum one last time to battle it out for the title.

“I wasn’t too nervous about it. It was nice to go last because I knew what score we had to have, but it was harder because she (Stars And Stripes) was expecting a lot more. She wasn’t as good in the run-off as her first run, but she still tried her heart out,” Mitchell shared.

In the end, it was enough, as the pair were victorious. Not only did Mitchell and Stars And Stripes win the L1 Championship, they tied for third in the L2, tied for fifth in L3, and tied for 12th in L4 for earnings of $27,832. "I am so, so thrilled and so happy because about two months ago we didn't think we would get to bring this mare here because she had an injury. I am just thankful to be here," she said.

In addition to the big paycheck, Mitchell was also presented with a Bob's Custom Saddle, a Montana Silversmiths buckle, Anderson Bean boots, product from Classic Equine, gift certificates from Platinum Performance and Bluebonnet Feed, a stomach scope from Dr. Joe Carter and Oklahoma Equine Hospital, a garment bag from Brandt Blanket, and a Shorty's Caboy Hattery gift certificate.

Mitchell and Stars And Stripes marked a 217.5 in the preliminary round. "It was shocking to me, honestly. I thought she had done pretty well but then they announced that score. It was amazing," she said. By Star Spangled Whiz out of Chick N Squirt, Stars And Stripes was nominated by Hannah's father Stephen Mitchell, who purchased the filly from Hannah's aunt and uncle, Shawn and Shelley Gann.

"We bought her as a yearling. We sent her to Bobby Avila and he did two or three months with her as a two-year-old, and then my dad and I took her from there. That's what makes her so special, because we did all the training on her ourselves," she said.

For Mitchell, just being able to compete at the NRHA Futurity was an accomplishment. In addition to her horse's injury, the pandemic put the entire show year in jeopardy. "I didn't think we'd have much of a year. I think it's great that NRHA still put this show on. Whatever we had to do to have a show, we were happy to do it, and it's great to be here," she said.

Mitchell, who recently graduated from Oklahoma State University, was quick to thank the people closest to her. "I thank God for allowing me and my family to be here and for keeping everyone safe here at the show. I thank my parents for allowing me to show this mare and pay for all the things to get here, and my little brother for all his support. I thank my aunt and uncle, Gabriel Borges, who helps us a lot, and Bobby Avila for starting her," she said.

Mike Weber Wins CINCH Non Pro Futurity Prime Time on Mifchievious

It's been a dream for Mike Weber, who's been showing reining horses since the 1970s, to win at the Futurity. "I even remember watching it in Ohio when I was a kid," he shared. On Friday night, Weber took home the Prime Time Futurity Championship on his horse Mifchievious.

In addition to the Prime Time title, Weber and Mifchievious also earned fifth in the Non Pro L1, winning more than $4,200. They also won a Bob's Custom Saddle, a Montana Silversmiths buckle, Anderson Bean boots, product from Classic Equine, gift certificates from Platinum Performance and Bluebonnet Feed, a stomach scope from Dr. Joe Carter and Oklahoma Equine Hospital, a garment bag from Brandt Blanket, and a Shorty's Caboy Hattery gift certificate.

The pair had some tough luck in the preliminary round. Although they qualified for the Prime Time Finals, it took a good finish in the Consolation round to earn a spot in Friday's finals. "We made it back for the Level 1. That second chance was best for me. This mare is just now coming on, and since we do the training mostly ourselves, it's sometimes better to show more when it's a longer event," he shared.

Weber purchased Mifchievious, by ARC Gunnabeabigstar out of Miflady, from his friend Kenneth Krebs, who nominated the mare. “Kenny owns her dam, and this is the fourth one we’ve had out of that mare. We’ve always thought she was special,” he said. “Joe Schmidt had her for a while and helped me with her, and my friend Cutter Cook trained her and took time with her as a baby.”

Hailing from Kentucky, Weber admitted he was a bit reluctant to travel to Oklahoma City for the Futurity. “However, we are such supporters of reining. My wife is the president of the Kentucky Reining Horse Association, and we knew that if we didn’t step up and support this event, and it didn’t make it, it would be because people didn’t make the effort,” he said. “So we’ve had our mask on, practiced social distancing, washed our hands, and stayed away from anyone who was sick. I think this year is even more special because we will always remember what a challenge it was not only to get here, but to stay here.”

Weber added, “I thank my wife Nez, as well as Kenny, Cutter, and everyone who has helped us. It’s a group effort. No one wins here by themselves.”

Lane Colston and Lil Ruf Whizkey Wins the CINCH Non Pro Youth Futurity

Seventeen-year-old Ronny “Lane” Colston, of Frankfort, Kentucky, rode Lil Ruf Whizkey to the top of the CINCH Non Pro Youth Futurity thanks to an impressive 221, the second highest score of the day. It was a great day for Colston who also split reserve honors in the CINCH Level 4 Non Pro for total earnings of $34,651.

Lil Ruf Whizkey is by NRHA Million Dollar Sire Whizkey N Diamonds and out of Lil

Ruf Startime. The 2017 gelding was nominated by Terry Leffew and is owned by Kevin Colston.

“We bought him in July, I actually didn’t try him out before we bought him,” Colston said. “Cade [McCutcheon] tried him for us. He said, ‘You have to have this horse, you need this horse, you can do great on him.’”

The Colston’s decision to purchase began paying off almost immediately.

“I didn’t ride him until about a week before the first time I showed him,” Colston said. “I rode him for a whole week, and we got along great. Then I showed him the first time and I was a 218. I showed him again before the Futurity and I was a 220.5. In the go round in the Futurity I almost had a big bobble, but I saved myself and I was a 216. I would like to have had a better run, but it was enough to make the Finals.”

Colston says Lil Ruff Whizkey didn’t warm up perfectly, but that didn’t upend their confidence as a team in the show-pen.

“I just told myself, ‘Alright, let’s rethink it, and let’s go.’ I went in the pen and he stopped so big for me. He just locked in with me. He’s a show horse. As soon as we went in there, he was ready and that says a lot about a horse. He’s a great horse,” Colston said, adding that it was his nerves that almost got the better of him in the preliminaries. “In the first go I was really nervous and I think that’s why I almost made a big mistake because I knew how good of a horse he was. I decided when I was warming up, let’s go do our best, we’re already here, let’s just go for it.”

Colston enjoys owning and showing the outstanding young reining horse and hopes to continue their winning journey.

“I ride with Tom and Mandy McCutcheon and they all help me—Tom, Cade, Tim. Mainly Cade rides him [Lil Ruff Whizkey], but I was having a little trouble starting my turns and that’s Tim’s specialty, so he was riding him for a little while. They all know so much about horses. I learn from all of them, they know which way to point me. Everyone at the ranch is so helpful all the time so we enjoy being with that team.”

Colston says Lil Ruff Whizkey will get a much-deserved break and then he plans to show at the NRBC next year, if not sooner.

“I appreciate the McCutcheon’s so much,” Colston said. “I want to thank my horse. He’s such a good horse, he’s amazing, I enjoy every minute of riding him. He’s so easy. We just click really well. Most of all I’d like to thank my parents, Amy and Kevin Colston. They support me. I love doing this and they are just so excited, maybe even more than I am, both of them are here and it’s so much fun.”

The Non Pro Youth Champion was awarded a Bob’s Custom Saddle, a custom Montana Silversmith’s trophy buckle, Anderson Bean boots, Classic Equine product, a Platinum Performance gift certificate, Bluebonnet Feeds gift certificate, a SmartPak gift card, a Shorty’s Caboy Hattery certificate, a Cold Saltwater Spa Treatment from Dr. Carter and Oklahoma Equine Hospital.

Trapper Lowndes and The Voodoo That U Do Win NRHA Honorable Mention Futurity

Riders not advancing to the National Reining Horse Association (NRHA) Futurity Finals had the option of entering the $1,000-added Honorable Mention Futurity. Emerging as champion was The Voodoo That U Do ridden by Trapper Lowndes, of Whitesboro, Texas, for owner Sally Wendy Padey. The pair marked a 219 to top the class for $427.

“We bought her as a 2-year-old from Trevor Dare up at Silver Spurs Equine. We’ve had her this past year and she’s been a really fun horse. We’d like to continue on and show her as a derby horse, try to win some more money on her and make her a mama pretty soon,” Lowndes said.

The Voodoo That U Do, by NRHA Million Dollar Sire Shiners Voodoo Dr out of Starlet Revolution, was nominated by Jeanine Stovall.

Lowndes says his goal in the Honorable Mention Futurity was to relax and make a penalty-free run, which he was confident would allow the mare’s incredible ability to shine.

“I really tried not to try,” Lowndes said. “We had a lot of penalties over in the big pen earlier this week, so I just tried to let her be what she is and she’s a really, really nice horse. The more I stay out of the way, the better she is.”

Lowndes, who has shown more reined cow horses lately, expressed appreciation for his family as well as a few horsemen in the reining world who’ve helped him with The Voodoo That U Do.

“I have the world’s best owner, Miss Sally, who has been wonderful to us and very trusting and provided such a nice horse. My family, my wife. There have been several horsemen help me through the year with her; I’ve stepped away from the reining for almost eight years, so it’s been really important that those guys have been so gracious to come forward and help me.”

Reserve in the Honorable Mention Futurity was Sharee

Schwartzenberger and Spooks Matrix with a 215.5. Spooks Matrix, by Smart Spook out of Mates Matrix, is owned by Inga Guernsey and was nominated by Adh-Mor Ranch.

NORTH AMERICAN AFFILIATE & ANCILLARY CHAMPIONS SCORE BIG IN THE ADEQUAN ARENA

Schoeller & Larcombe Win Adequan® NAAC Open and Int. Open Titles at NRHA Futurity

In addition to the aged event taking place in the Jim Norick Coliseum, the National Reining Horse Association (NRHA) Futurity features the Adequan® North American Affiliate Championship (NAAC), which kicked off on Thursday, November 26. Exhibitors are vying for double the added money this year over last in the Adequan® NAAC, a program that helps spotlight a variety of members and horses from across North America who qualify to compete here in Oklahoma City.

Sara Honegger, NRHA Youth and Professionals Program Manager, was excited to crown the first of the 2020 Adequan® NAAC Champions. “With the changes to the 2020 qualification process, we are excited to see many new faces here during the NAAC. We appreciate all of our exhibitors who have turned up to compete, in spite of all the difficulties they have faced this year. I, with the entire NRHA Staff and Show Management team, wish all of our exhibitors the best of luck while they are here in Oklahoma City,” she said.

In addition to incredible prizes from NRHA Corporate Partners, the champion of each NAAC class will be presented an Adequan® Championship vest the day after their performance in the Jim Norick Coliseum as a show of support for these successful affiliate riders.

Robin Schoeller Wins Adequan® NAAC Open Riding Tinseltown Flash

Robin Schoeller, Bloomingburg, Ohio, earned the Adequan® NAAC Open victory on Tinseltown Flash with a 219.5. In addition to a check for $3,171, the pair won a saddle from Kyle Tack, a Platinum Performance champion’s jacket, a 10-lb. bucket of Platinum Performance, a custom Montana Silver-Smiths trophy buckle, a Bluebonnet Feed gift certificate, SmartPak Smart-Therapy Quick Wraps, a garment bag from Brandt Blankets, a Classic Equine fleece cooler, and Eqvalan from Dr. Joe Carter.

Schoeller and Tinseltown Flash finished second in the ancillary Open, worth an additional $1,581. They were also eligible for the Adequan® Affiliate 500, which resulted in a $500 bonus!

“It was another great run on this horse,” Schoeller said. “This horse has been tremendous for me throughout his whole career. The run in [pattern] coming in the gate on him is a blast. He ran down strong, stopped big, backed up really nice, got turned around really good and stayed out of the penalties. He stopped really honest and good; he was good as gold.”

Tinseltown Flash, owned by Ruoff Dieter Reining Horses Inc., is by NRHA Two Million Dollar Sire Hollywoodstinseltown out of Billie Gun Flash. He has been in Schoeller’s hands since being purchased by Ruoff Dieter Reining

Horses from Jonathan Gauthier as a 2-year-old.

“Beth Himes owns him and she’s been a huge supporter of my program since day one,” Schoeller said. “It’s just really good to see her own such a nice animal. We enjoy him very much. We started standing him at stud two years ago, so his first babies are going to be 2-year-olds next year.”

Schoeller noted that Tinseltown Flash may be shown more by his owner in the coming year, but it will remain to be seen how heavy his respective show and breeding schedules will be. The 2012 stallion had NRHA lifetime earnings (LTE) of more than $130,000 prior to arriving here in Oklahoma City. “We have to go home and see what we’re going to do,” Schoeller said. “If we load up to go to a show somewhere he nickers at us, he gets upset if he’s not going.”

Schoeller expressed his gratitude to generous NRHA sponsors as well as the entire support team that helped him achieve the 2020 NAAC Open title. “Without the sponsors, the horse show wouldn’t be possible—especially Adequan® for sponsoring this affiliate championship,” Schoeller said. “Beth Himes for being such a great supporter; my wife Laura, she’s such a huge part of our business, my help and all my owners and the non pros that are in my barn. It takes a village... I couldn’t do it by myself, that’s for sure.”

Shauna Larcombe Wins Adequan® NAAC Int. Open on Shiners Chic

Montana Silversmiths trophy buckle, a Bluebonnet Feed gift certificate, SmartPak SmartTherapy Quick Wraps, a garment bag from Brandt Blankets, a Classic Equine fleece cooler, and Eequalan from Dr. Joe Carter.

Sweetening the pot even more was the Adequan® Affiliate 500, which added an additional $500 to the day’s take.

“I was really happy with him. He was last in his set, so it was a little hard to find great ground. One stop I kind of messed up a little bit, but he was great for me,” Larcombe said of the pair’s 218.5 run. “He’s just a trooper, and if I stay out of his way, he knows what his job is and will do it.”

Shiners Chic is by NRHA Seven Million Dollar Sire Smart Chic Olena out of Ebony Shines. “I have been riding him the last three or four years, and Rosanne’s daughter Jessica Sternberg usually shows him,” Larcombe explained. “Because of COVID, she is stuck in Europe, so I’ve gotten to show him. We put him over the $300,000 mark in earnings a few weeks ago, so that’s pretty exciting.”

Any reining fan who has been around the sport for a bit of time has likely heard of Shiners Chic. The 15-year-old gelding, owned by Rosanne Sternberg, has racked up countless wins with numerous riders over his career.

On Thanksgiving Day, an additional $6,190 was added to his resume, when he and Shauna Larcombe won the Adequan® NAAC Intermediate Open and ancillary Intermediate Open. They also finished as Adequan® NAAC Open Reserve Champions and finished third in the ancillary Open. During the awards ceremony, they were presented with a saddle from Kyle Tack, a Platinum Performance champion’s jacket, a 10-lb. bucket of Platinum Performance, a custom Larcombe extended a special thank you to both Rosanne and Jessica. “Thank you to Rosanne, of course. It’s been a pleasure to show him, and I thank Jessica for sharing him with me. I also thank Emily, my assistant, who has done a fantastic job, and of course I thank my family,” she said. “After this show we will regroup and see what we have for next year.”

Brian Bell Wins NRHA Ancillary Open on Mr Hollywood Cee

With a crowd-pleasing 220.5, Brian Bell and Mr Hollywood Cee won the ancillary open, which ran concu-rently with the Adequan® NAAC. The win netted owners George R. Bell and Carol Bell a check for $2,139.

Bell, of Pilot Point, Texas, was proud of the 2014 palomino stallion's winning performance, as well as of his championship lineage. Out of the mare Miss Hollywood Cee, Mr Hollywood Cee is by NRHA Two Million Dollar Sire Hollywoods-tinseltown.

in hopes of adding more NRHA LTE to his record, as well as to that of his dam's. Bell credits Mr Hollywood Cee for being a solid performer that is enjoyable to train and show.

"I'd like to thank my dad and Carol, they have a lot of good horses and they've been kind of letting me do what I want to do with them this year," Bell said. "It's been a lot of fun. My dad normally shows this horse, but he quit showing him this year so I could."

"Our family bred this horse. We own his mother, his grandmother and used to own his great grandmother," Bell said. "I've shown him this year. I marked a 227.5 on him to win Tulsa and was fifth in the NRHA Derby with him. I wasn't actually supposed to show him here but about three weeks ago they said, 'Can you get him ready to show?' So, I did."

In light of 2020 being an atypical show year, Bell is particularly pleased to be competing and winning here in Oklahoma City.

"We're glad for every show we get to go to this year. We're excited to get to show here at the futurity," added Bell.

In the coming year, the stallion will continue to be shown

Heitland and Tyndall Claim Adequan® NAAC Titles at NRHA Futurity

"He turned pretty good in today's run, and when I circled him, he was with me, but his best thing today was his stops. He stopped three times, and he stopped big," Heitland shared. "That's his strength."

Heitland just began riding the 7-year-old stallion, by NRHA Two Million Dollar Sire Spooks Gotta Whiz out of Dolittle Lena. Just last year the horse, nicknamed Yellowstone, carried NRHA Six Million Dollar Rider Shawn Florida to a fourth-place finish in the Run for a Million. The colt was a graduate of the 2015 NRHA/Markel Futurity Prospect Sale.

"We just got him a couple months ago and I started showing him, and he's been a fun horse," he said. "I thank the owner Kevin Truax and his daughter and family, and my wife and kids. I also thank Mike Davis who has helped me a lot."

With an impressive 221.5 score, Iowa's Derek Heitland topped the Adequan® NAAC Limited Open on Spooks Gotta Spark. The pair also won the concurrently run Limited Open ancillary, bringing the day's paycheck to an impressive $1,128.

It wasn't the only time for Heitland and Spooks Gotta Spark to win good money in the Adequan® Arena. Earlier in the week, the pair earned $4,998 for taking Reserve in the NAAC and ancillary Intermediate Open and placing in the NAAC and ancillary Open class.

“I liked the money they had here,” Heitland said with a laugh, referencing the NAAC’s doubled added money from the previous year. “I thought it was a good day. This was my last time to show this week, and it was a great way to end it.”

Heitland added, “Showing reiners has been my dream since I was 12 years old. To be able to come down here with everything going on is a dream come true. I couldn’t be any happier.”

Heitland will take a bevy of first-class awards home to Iowa for the NAAC Limited Open win, including a Bob’s Custom Saddle, a Platinum Performance champion’s jacket, a 10-lb. bucket of Platinum Performance, a custom Montana Silversmiths trophy buckle, a Bluebonnet Feed gift certificate, SmartPak SmartTherapy Quick Wraps, a garment bag from Brandt Blankets, a Classic Equine fleece cooler, and Eqvalan from Dr. Joe Carter.

Nikki Tyndall and Stars At Midnite Win NAAC Rookie Pro and Ancillary Rookie Pro

Taking top honors in the Rookie Pro division of the NRHA’s Adequan® NAAC, as well as in the ancillary Rookie Pro class, was Nikki Tyndall riding Stars At Midnite.

Winning the Adequan® NAAC Rookie Pro paid Tyndall $429, while the ancillary Rookie Pro class paid an additional $289. Tyndall also finished Reserve in both the Adequan® NAAC Limited Open and ancillary Limited Open for another $515.

Stars At Midnite is by NRHA Three Million Dollar Sire Gunners Special Nite and out of Chic Olena Starbuck. The 2013 mare is owned by Edward Frawley. “She’s just a superstar mare,” said Tyndall. “I showed her a bit over the summer but we’ve had her in the barn for about three years.”

Tyndall drew on the mare’s strengths today to clinch the win. “Both runs were awesome,” said Tyndall, who won in a runoff against Taylor Davis riding Missin Walla Whiz (Walla Walla Whiz x Missin My Friend) for Donald Burgy. “When I went to get her [for the runoff] she was practically sleeping in the corner. She’s a low energy gal so she was just awesome, she’s a super solid horse. She’s a huge stopper, great turner and she circles nice too.”

Tyndall originally hails from Cape Cod, Massachusetts, but currently lives in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, where she works for Dave Moore.

“I’d like to thank her owner Ed Frawley for letting me show his horse,” said Tyndall. “Also, my boss, Dave Moore and his wife Kim Moore, as well as the whole Sheridan Oaks team, and everyone who put this show together. I’m so excited!”

Tyndall earned a plethora of awards for the NAAC Rookie Pro championship, including a Bob’s Custom Saddle, a Platinum Performance champion’s jacket, a 10-lb. bucket of Platinum Performance, a custom Montana Silversmiths trophy buckle, a Bluebonnet Feed gift certificate, SmartPak SmartTherapy Quick Wraps, a garment bag from Brandt Blankets, a Classic Equine fleece cooler, and Eqvalan from Dr. Joe Carter.

It was another full day of competition in the Adequan® Arena at the State Fair Park in Oklahoma City. The Adequan® North American Affiliate Championships (NAAC) awards some of the most prestigious titles a reiner can win outside of aged event competition. With horses and riders from across North America traveling to the Sooner State, the competition is fierce.

In addition to incredible prizes from NRHA Corporate Partners, the champion of each of the 17 NAAC classes will be presented an Adequan® Championship vest the following day in the Jim Norick Coliseum as a show of support for these successful affiliate riders.

Mike McEntire & Cosmic Vintage Tie for Win of Adequan® NAAC Nov. Horse Open L2

Mike McEntire and Cosmic Vintage have a history together that reaches to the west coast. When owner Megan Lindberg purchased the colt he was three, she sent him to McEntire to be ridden. “Megan lives in California, and when we lived in California I rode him for a year. After I left California he was injured in his stall, and hurt his back. She sent him back to me once he was sound,” McEntire explained.

It seems the pair have meshed well since pairing up again, as they tied for the win of the ancillary and Adequan® NAAC Novice Horse Open Level 2, and were the sole champions of the ancillary Level 3. “He’s been doing really good, and came together really nice,” McEntire shared. “He was good today and easy to show. The ground was a little easier than outside the pen I guess. He still stopped well, but the last stop was really good.”

Cosmic Vintage, now five years old, is by NRHA Two Million Dollar Sire A Sparkling Vintage and out of Starjac Miss. “He’s on the same team as me, and that’s what is so good about showing him,” he said. “I thank my wife, Natalie, and of course the owner of this horse, Megan Lindberg, who is a great support.”

While McEntire is looking ahead to 2021, he shared his thoughts on the NRHA Futurity. “I think everyone has made a great effort to make it work, and it is working. That’s the thing – we get to be here and show our horses, and we’re getting through it,” he said.

In addition to checks totaling $3,757, McEntire and Cosmic Vintage earned several prizes, including a Bob’s Custom Saddle, a Platinum Performance champion’s jacket, a 10-lb. bucket of Platinum Performance, a custom Montana Silversmiths trophy buckle, a Bluebonnet Feeds gift certificate, SmartPak SmartTherapy Quick Wraps, a garment bag from Brandt Blankets, a Classic Equine fleece cooler, and Equalan from Dr. Joe Carter.

Ashley Peterson & HA Shine Tears Shine Share Win in the Adequan® NAAC Novice Horse Open Level 2

Thanks to her identical score of 218.5, Ashley Peterson riding HA Shine Tears Shine shared the Adequan® NAAC Novice Horse Open Level 2 championship. She also split the win with Mike McEntire and Cosmic Vintage in the ancillary Novice Horse Open Level 2 to sweeten the payday. Today’s performance rewarded Peterson with a total of $2,170.

HA Shine Tears Shine is a 2013 gelding by Shine Chic Shine out of HA Tinsel Tears that is owned by Peterson, whose training business is based out of Crookson, Minnesota.

“Seth Chamberlain trained this horse and he did awesome, I watched him and I always wanted him. My daughter needed a horse for the short stirrup [division] and he came up for sale so we bought him for her, but I steal him every now and then,” Peterson said.

Peterson says her goal today was to keep her gelding quiet and listening in order to complete a solid, winning run.

“He just listened to me. He’s good at everything, but his stops are so fun, they’re crazy smooth. If my daughter grabs the horn in her stops she’s got to pay her entry fees,” Peterson joked.

Peterson had high praise for her clients but says it’s fun to show one of her own horses occasionally too.

“They don’t mind and we all cheer for each other,” she said. “This year we didn’t get to go to many shows because of COVID, so we for sure wanted to make the trip here. It was affordable and you could still win good money.”

The NAAC Novice Horse 2 titlists win a host of first-class awards, including a Bob’s Custom Saddle, a Platinum Performance champion’s jacket, a 10-lb. bucket of Platinum Performance, a custom Montana Silversmiths trophy buckle, a Bluebonnet Feed gift certificate, SmartPak SmartTherapy Quick Wraps, a garment bag from Brandt Blankets, a Classic Equine fleece cooler, and Eqvalan from Dr. Joe Carter.

Matt McDowell & Ichabod X Win Adequan® NAAC Nov. Horse Open Level 1 Championship

The title of NAAC Novice Horse Open Level 1 Champion went to Idaho-based trainer Matthew McDowell who guided Ichabod X for owner Elisha Irwin to a 219.

Ichabod X is a 2014 gelding by NRHA Twelve Million Dollar Sire Topsyall Whiz out of Miss Rey O Shine. McDowell tied with Abigayle Mixon and A Custom Spook in the ancillary Novice Horse Open Level 1 for a total payday of $1,717.

While McDowell said Ichabod X started his show career a bit later than some, that hasn’t discouraged the horse from excelling.

“He came into my program and fit me really well. He’s been a great show horse this year and I’m looking forward to the big derbies with him next year,” McDowell said. “He’s a show horse. He walks in there and he circles beautifully, he just has a great profile. He’s a huge stopper and he can turn big, he’s truly a plus-1 horse, and you don’t have to push him, he makes it easy.”

McDowell was confident coming into today’s competition after preparing Ichabod X and getting him accustomed to the arena last night.

“I went home and told my wife, ‘You know he feels like he’s on the money, he’s got a really good shot,’” McDowell said. “This arena fit him, the ground’s always good here and he was just right there with me.”

McDowell, who has four kids who are watching from home in Idaho, wished to thank his family and his supportive clients.

“My clients let me show great horses and have always supported me. Even when my dreams are kind of crazy they let me try and it’s worked out. I surround myself with a great group of people,” he said.

McDowell, who has a 3-year-old qualified for the Futurity Semi-Finals, looks forward to bringing Ichabod X back for the NRHA Derby next year.

The NAAC Novice Horse 1 championship is accompanied by a host of first-class awards, including a Bob’s Custom Saddle, a Platinum Performance champion’s jacket, a 10-lb. bucket of Platinum Performance, a custom Montana Silversmiths trophy buckle, a Bluebonnet Feed gift certificate, SmartPak SmartTherapy Quick Wraps, a garment bag from Brandt Blankets, a Classic Equine fleece cooler, and Eqvalan from Dr. Joe Carter.

Abigayle Mixon Ties for Win of NRHA Nov. Horse Open Level 1 on A Custom Spook

It was the first time for Abigayle Mixon to show A Custom Spook, but if Sunday's performance is any indication, the two will see more success in the future. Mixon and A Custom Spook, a five-year-old by NRHA Two Million Dollar Sire Spooks Gotta Whiz out of Custom Princess, marked a 219 to tie for the win of the Nov. Horse Open L1 ancillary class.

"We had actually bought him at the NRHA Derby for his owner, Harry Prince, to show. They brought him to me the first of November so I could ride him a little, and today was my first time to show him," Mixon shared. "It was great. I love this horse because he's quiet and sweet, and he just wants to please. He was super out there, so it was fun to show."

Although she hadn't shown the horse herself, she had a game plan. "I have watched Harry show him, so I had a bit of an idea of what I needed to do, so I just tried to be smooth and correct. He's a monster stopper, and very quiet," she said. "I thank Harry and his wife Patty for giving me this opportunity. They have been great customers for a while now. I also thank my help, Laramie, my husband, and everyone at home."

Tuesday was fortuitous for Ashland, Wisconsin non professional Alli Vernon who earned the NAAC Non Pro title in Adequan® arena. Vernon teamed up with her family's home-raised 2015 gelding Gunnersrufride for an impressive 226 to earn $4,967.

Gunnersrufride, owned and bred by White River Ag Products, Inc., is by Gunners Special Nite, unofficially the

Allana "Alli" Vernon Wins Adequan® NAAC Non Pro

NRHA's newest Four Million Dollar Sire, and out of Lil Ruf Showgirl.

Making the victory particularly sweet for Vernon is the fact that more than a decade ago she showed Gunnersrufride's dam here in Oklahoma City.

"I actually showed this guy's mom here 11 years ago when I was a youth rider," she said. "He was born and raised on our farm. Tom McCutcheon started him and rode him as a 3- and 4-year-old, then I took him over this year. It's been a really fun year with him so far. I'm really excited for next year."

Vernon and Gunnersrufride achieved a smooth enough ride to be rewarded with excellent scores from the judges.

"He can turn really big and he can circle good. We'd been having a little trouble getting stopped this week, but he stopped really good today, so it was all in all a really fun ride," Vernon said.

"I have a lot of people to thank, including Tom McCuteon who started him. He did an amazing job on him. I want to thank my dad, Richard Vernon, and my uncles for breeding our mare and making this awesome baby. We've had some great luck with our babies this year. My trainers, Tanner and Christina Boyes, they took him over after Tom and got him more set to be a non pro horse," Vernon added.

The NAAC Non Pro champion was awarded a Bob's Custom Saddle, a Platinum Performance champion's jacket, a 10-lb. bucket of Platinum Performance, a custom Montana Silversmiths trophy buckle, a Bluebonnet Feeds gift certificate, SmartPak SmartTherapy Quick Wraps, a garment bag from Brandt Blankets, a Classic Equine fleece cooler, and Eqvalan from Dr. Joe Carter.

Ruben Pacheco Cuevas Wins Adequan® NAAC Int. Non Pro on Sofisat

With an impressive score of 223, Ruben Pacheco Cuevas and Sofisat clinched the Adequan® NAAC Intermediate Non Pro championship. It was a goal for Cuevas, who is a former NAAC Champion.

Cuevas was representing the Mexico Region, while his mare, Sofisat, was bred and raised in Europe. "She's from Europe and was a finalist in the European Futurity," he shared. "We have won a couple championships, and decided to bring her here to show in the North American Affiliate Championships. That was our goal."

Sofisat is by Saturdaynight Custom and out of Sofia Catalyst. Cuevas and the 9-year-old mare competed the day before in the Novice Horse Non Pro class. "We had a big penalty there, so today we made it up and fixed it. She was perfect today," he said. "I have been coming to this show for 10 years or more. This is a really tough show. There are the best riders from North America and the world that compete here."

Cuevas noted how happy he was to be able to compete in Oklahoma City. "I thank God that we are healthy during this event. I thank my family, and my wife, and my team here," he said.

In addition to a big check for $3,284, Cuevas will be taking home a Bob's Custom Saddle, a Platinum Performance champion's jacket, a 10-lb. bucket of Platinum Performance, a custom Montana Silversmiths trophy buckle, a Bluebonnet Feeds gift certificate, SmartPak SmartTherapy Quick Wraps, a garment bag from Brandt Blankets, a Classic Equine fleece cooler, and Eqvalan from Dr. Joe Carter.

Jose Vasquez Wins NAAC Prime Time Non Pro on Like Shiner

Jose Vasquez from Markham, Illinois, rode home raised Like Shiner, owned by Smart Like Juice, Inc., to a 224.5 to top the NAAC Prime Time Non Pro in Adequan® Arena. Vasquez not only won the NAAC Prime Time, but third in the NAAC Non Pro as well. All totaled, Vasquez won $4,115.

Like Shiner is by NRHA Four Million Dollar Sire Smart Like Juice out of Wind Her Up Shiner.

"I used to show her mother, her father and all her siblings," Vasquez said. "There are 22 of them that are old enough to show out of the same mare and they've all won money. They've won close to $900,000, so that's a pretty good family I'd say."

Vasquez says that Like Shiner shares the desirable traits characteristic of her lineage.

"They're very simple, very talented and they all have longevity in the show pen. Like Shiner is 8 years old and I've shown her hard, she's won more than $150,000 already," adding that he was proud to see his score hold for the duration of the show. "I was the third horse in the pen this morning and it held. I was very fortunate and I'm very proud, it's one of the best runs I've ever had on her score-wise. She can plus-1 any maneuver."

So many individuals have helped Vasquez over the years that he says it would be impossible to recognize them all, but he expressed appreciation for his current trainer, Alejandro Vasquez, who has been with him for the past six years and started Like Shiner.

As NAAC Prime Time Non Pro champion Vasquez was awarded a Bob's Custom Saddle, a Platinum Performance champion's jacket, a 10-lb. bucket of Platinum Performance, a custom Montana Silversmiths trophy buckle, a Bluebonnet Feeds gift certificate, SmartPak SmartTherapy Quick Wraps, a garment bag from Brandt Blankets, a Classic Equine fleece cooler, and Equalan from Dr. Joe Carter.

Jenny Ricotta and Miss Whizzletown Win NAAC Limited Non Pro and Ancillary Limited Non Pro

On Friday, October 27, the Limited Non Pro competition of the National Reining Horse Association (NRHA) Adequan® North American Affiliate Championships (NAAC) took place in the Adequan® Arena at State Fair Park in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. In addition to the aged event taking place in the Jim Norick Coliseum, the NRHA Futurity features exhibitors from across North America who qualify to compete here in Oklahoma City.

training and the majority of the showing. After the NRBC this year, I told him, 'My turn!' So, I've been riding her since then and showed her at the Best of the West in October and got qualified to come here."

Ricotta says the stunning bay mare navigated the pattern with solid precision today.

"She was really good everywhere, everything I asked of her she did," Ricotta said. "I had a little bit of trouble with my second lead

In addition to incredible prizes from NRHA Corporate Partners, the champion of each of the 17 NAAC classes will be presented an Adequan® Championship vest the following day in the Jim Norick Coliseum as a show of support for these successful affiliate riders.

Jenny Ricotta topped the Adequan® NAAC Limited Non Pro riding her horse Miss Whizzletown to a 216 for earnings of $689. Ricotta also won the ancillary Limited Non Pro class that was run concurrently for another $236.

Miss Whizzletown is by Hollywood Tinseltown and out of the mare Rewind N Whiz. The 7-year-old mare was trained by Ricotta's husband Marco.

"Marco and I raised her, she actually was orphaned so we raised her on a bucket," Ricotta said. "Marco did all the change, but it was totally rider error. She was really good, she's honest and she's always there for me."

Ricotta will enjoy another chance at a title when she shows Miss Whizzletown again on Tuesday in the Non Pro.

"Then she's going to be a mama," Ricotta added. "She's already got five foals on the ground but now she's going to carry."

Ricotta thanked her husband for his support and willingness to share a horse that he considers his prized equine partner.

"I'd for sure like to thank Marco, he told me, 'I get so jealous when anyone else rides that mare,' so she's his baby," Ricotta said. "So, it's really awesome that he let me take over.”

Ricotta will take a host of top-notch awards home to Scottsdale, Arizona, including a Bob’s Custom Saddle, a Platinum Performance champion’s jacket, a 10-lb. bucket of Platinum Performance, a custom Montana Silversmiths trophy buckle, a Bluebonnet Feed gift certificate, SmartPak SmartTherapy Quick Wraps, a garment bag from Brandt Blankets, a Classic Equine fleece cooler, and Equalan from Dr. Joe Carter.

Jennifer Gilliam & Magnatize Win Adequan® NAAC Novice Horse Non Pro Level 2

“I’ve shown in some derby stuff and he’s been a wonderful horse,” Gilliam said.

Gilliam thanked her trainer Jordan McBurney for the time she invests in helping her achieve her goals, and also thanked her mother Janiene Borrer.

“He actually belongs to my mom. She has been super busy so she hasn’t been able to show him. She lets me show him, so big thanks to my mom as well,” Gilliam said.

When considering the many challenges that 2020 has presented, Gilliam is grateful for the opportunity to compete here in Oklahoma City.

“I’m really excited that the show actually happened. We came early, my husband drove me out and we’ve been here for two weeks. I’m really excited to be here. I was just happy to make the long trip and have some success because this is a really tough show. I think this is the best run I’ve ever had on him.”

Jennifer Gilliam traveled from her northern California home in the town of Pine Grove to dominate the NAAC and ancillary Novice Horse Non Pro Level 2.

Gilliam and Magnatize put up a 219.5 for first in the NAAC Novice Horse Non Pro Level 2, which paid $2,232, as well as first in the ancillary to add $1,007 to the day’s earnings. Magnatize is by NRHA Six Million Dollar Sire Magnum Chic Dream and out of the mare Dunit N Continental.

The NAAC Novice Non Pro Level 2 champion was awarded a Bob’s Custom Saddle, a Platinum Performance champion’s jacket, a 10-lb. bucket of Platinum Performance, a custom Montana Silversmiths trophy buckle, a Bluebonnet Feeds gift certificate, SmartPak SmartTherapy Quick Wraps, a garment bag from Brandt Blankets, a Classic Equine fleece cooler, and Equalan from Dr. Joe Carter.

“We bought him here as a 3-year-old, so two years ago.

Kyla Thurlow & Double Guns Tonite Win Adequan® NAAC Novice Horse Non Pro Level 1

Dominant is the appropriate adjective to describe Kyla Thurlow’s performance in the NAAC Novice Horse Non Pro Level 1 and concurrently run NRHA Novice Horse Non Pro Level 1. Thurlow, who originally hails from Maine, traveled from her current home in Massachusetts to compete. To add to her travel schedule, Thurlow’s horses reside in Florida.

Thurlow and her horse Double Guns Tonite, by Top Gun Tonite out of Gunners Dazey, scored a 216.5 to earn the NAAC Novice Horse Non Pro Level 1 title and $1,064.

Their performance earned the ancillary championship for another $822.

Double Guns Tonite was acquired by Thurlow during last year’s NRHA Futurity.

“I haven’t really gotten much ride time on her with all my traveling and with everything that’s been going on, but we’re figuring each other out slowly. She was wonderful today,” Thurlow said. “She was really listening. She is very sensitive. She can really run and stop huge and she did that today.”

Thurlow was also reserve in both divisions with a 215 aboard Kachina Olena Tag for another $1,323. Kachina Olena Tag is by NRHA Two Million Dollar Sire Whiz N Tag Chex out of Kachina Oak Olena. Thurlow was happy to show both of her horses to the top of both Level 1 classes.

“Anytime you’re able to go to a horse show this year you feel blessed to be here for sure,” Thurlow said. “It’s wonderful that this show has gone through thanks to everyone banding together.”

Thurlow had high praise for her team of supporters, which includes her boyfriend Steven Borgia who found her winning mount for her, as well as her trainers Mark and Shannon Rafacz and their daughter Madison.

“I have a huge team. My mom and dad are my biggest supporters, they’re watching from home and I wish everyone could be here, but I appreciate them all so much,” she said.

As NAAC Limited Non Pro Level 1 champion Thurlow was awarded a Bob’s Custom Saddle, a Platinum Performance champion’s jacket, a 10-lb. bucket of

Jessicah Keller Wins NRHA Nov. Horse Non Pro Level 3 on Its Snippin Time

Jessicah Keller and Its Snippin Time had put together a great start to their run in the Novice Horse Non Pro class in the Adequan® Arena, executing a flawless run-in stop and an impressive turn. Then, the unexpected happened. “Before I loped off the alarm started going off. The judges were still in their stands, so I ran my circles, changed leads, and got through my first stop and rollback, but then they announced they were evacuating the building,” she shared.

Its Snippin Time, by Shine Big Time out of Snip O Satellite, is extra special to Keller. The mare is owned by Keller’s mother, Tammye Hutton of Hildale Farm, the NRHA’s newest Million Dollar Owner. “We raised her, and we raised – and I showed – her mother,” Kelller explained. “This mare, Its Snippin Time, is actually the one that put our program across the million-dollar mark. It was a goal of mine for us to reach that this year, and then COVID hit and there weren’t as many horse shows. I wasn’t sure we were going to make it, but here we are.”

A half-hour later, after the all clear, Keller and Its Snippin Time made their second attempt, and made it count. “She was great the second time too,” Keller said. The pair marked a 217 to not only win the NRHA Novice Horse Non Pro Level 3 but also take reserve in both the NAAC and NRHA Level 2. All totaled, Keller won $2,579.

Keller noted she had several people to thank. “I thank Todd Sommers, who has been helping me with this mare. He has done a great job and is a good mentor and friend. I thank my mom, my brother and sister, and the great team I have behind me,” she said.

Logan Lindberg Ties for Toyon Ranch NAAC Rookie of the Year & NAAC Rookie Level 2 Win

Seventeen-year-old Logan Lindberg, Lafayette, California, rode Custom Banjo, by Banjo Whiz out of Custom Bobbie, to share top honors in the Toyon Ranch Rookie of the Year with a score of 218. Owned by Megan Lindberg, Custom Banjo is a 2008 bay gelding with more than $102,000 in NRHA Lifetime Earnings (LTE) to his credit. Lindberg tied for the win in the NAAC Rookie Level 2 with Allison Rae Thorson.

which makes him a thrill to show.

An avid team roper and student at Campolindo High School in Moraga, Lindberg says he quit playing football in order to focus more on riding.

Lindberg is grateful to have the support of his parents, saying, “I owe it all to my parents. Also, Liz Rammerstorfer, she’s helped me here in Oklahoma and at home as well. I’m really grateful to have her help, and for my parents too.”

“He’s a great horse, he’s my mom’s horse and I’m fortunate enough to get to ride him,” Lindberg said. “He does the job he’s supposed to do and gets me there every time. I showed him for the first time about two years ago, just at a smaller weekend show.”

Lindberg says Custom Banjo excels at every reining maneuver, but he added that the horse stops no matter what,

The NAAC co-champions were each awarded a Continental Saddlery Saddle, a custom Montana Silversmiths trophy buckle, a 10-lb. bucket of Platinum Performance, Classic Equine ice boots, a Bluebonnet Feeds gift certificate, SmartPak SmartTherapy Quick Wraps, a garment bag from Brandt Blankets, Eqvalan from Dr. Joe Carter, and a champion’s jacket from Platinum Performance.

Allison Thorson Ties for Toyon Ranch Rookie of the Year and NAAC Rookie 2 Championship on Smart Cowboy Whiz

The Adequan® Arena at Oklahoma Fair Park has been good to Allison Thorson and her horse Smart Cowboy Whiz. Just a month after purchasing the gelding in 2019, Thorson piloted him to wins at the NRHA Derby presented by Markel Insurance in the Green Reiner classes. At the 2020 NRHA Derby presented by Markel Insurance, the pair teamed up again to win the high-point championships of Rookie Levels 1 and 2. Then, on Thursday night at the NRHA Futurity &

Adequan® NAAC, the duo marked a 218 to tie for the win of the Toyon Ranch Rookie of the Year and NAAC Rookie Level 2.

“It’s pretty neat. Oklahoma City and the Adequan® are really lucky for us,” Thorson said. “His spins were awesome today. It was probably the best we’ve turned and spun. Our stops have been hit or miss because sometimes we’re really on it, and sometimes it feels like I’m on another planet. Today we were together every single step, and we were penalty free.”

Smart Cowboy Whiz is by Who Whiz It and out of Little Smart Jac. “I love him so much. He’s good everywhere, and then he’s pretty, too. If he was a human, I don’t know that I would want to date him because he’d be too proud of himself,” Thorson said with a laugh.

“It’s very hard to get to this point. It’s not easy, and it’s only possible because of a big team of people supporting you every day. I have a great group of friends and family supporting me each and every day,” she said. “I also thank Craig and Ginger Schmersal and their team. I live in Tennessee, and my horse is with them. They have a first-class program from top to bottom, and they really push me to be a better rider.”

The NAAC co-champions were awarded a Continental Saddlery Saddle, a Platinum Performance champion’s jacket, a 10-lb. bucket of Platinum Performance, a custom Montana Silversmiths trophy buckle, a Bluebonnet Feeds gift certificate, SmartPak SmartTherapy Quick Wraps, a garment bag from Brandt Blankets, a Classic Equine fleece cooler, and Eqvalan from Dr. Joe Carter.

Erika Belden Wins NAAC Prime Time Rookie Championship with Dun Git A Nicadual

Belden and Gun Git A Nicadual marked a 214.5 to win the division and earn a top 10 finish in the Rookie Level 2. “This is my final show of the year, and I was hoping to do well because it’s my last year in the rookie,” Belden said.

Next year, Erika’s husband James Belden will take back the reins. “I thank my husband for giving me the chance to show this horse. I thank my trainer Dave Moore and his wife Kim, and Nikki Tyndall his assistant, and the whole team of Dave Moore Reining,” she said.

“He was really good today. He was with me every step. He knows his job and he tells me what to do more than I tell him,” McCutcheon said, adding, “My dad showed him as a

The 15-year-old home schooled equestrian balances her time between a heavy competition schedule showing hunter-jumpers for 10 months out of the year and showing reining horses at the highest level.

“I’d like to thank Debbie Brown for everything, she’s my trainer and she has gotten me to where I am. She’s taught me a lot. I definitely want to thank my parents, and my grandparents, Tim and Colleen McQuay, and my brother too—a little bit,” she laughed.

The Adequan® NAAC Youth 14-18 Champion was awarded a Continental Saddlery Saddle, a Custom Montana Silversmith’s Trophy Buckle, a 10-lb. bucket of Platinum Performance, a Classic Equine Fleece Cooler, a Bluebonnet Feeds Gift Certificate, SmartPak SmartTherapy Quick Wraps, a garment bag from Brandt Blanket Company, Eqvalan from Dr. Joe Carter, a champion’s vest from Adequan®, and a Platinum Performance champion’s jacket.

so well, but today he came in and was just as good as before. My goal for the day was to be penalty free and have a pretty run. He was there for me, and I’m just really happy with him.”

Whizenboonsmal is by Peptoleap out of She Whiz A Star. “I have had him over three years and accomplished so much on him. He’s a very special horse and has made a lot of my dreams come true,” she shared. “I’ll keep him as long as I can. He’s going to be around for a while.”

Madison’s parents, Mark and Shannon Rafacz, own and operate MR Reiners. “It’s been a really good week for our barn. We’ve had a lot of people do well and had a lot of accomplishments,” she said. “I thank my parents especially for all their help. I thank Bud Lyon for helping and supporting me over the last few months, and the entire MR Reiners team.”

Madison Rafacz and Whizenboonsmal have teamed up for numerous titles in the Adequan® Arena during NRHA events, and on Friday night, added yet another line to their resume with the NAAC Youth 13 & Under championship.

Rafacz and the 8-year-old gelding marked a 218 to also win the ancillary division.

Colt Mitchell wins 10 & Under Short Stirrup Championship on Playgun Chic Olena

Colt Mitchell, of Cuba, Missouri, claimed the Championship in the 10 & Under Short Stirrup division for the third consecutive year riding Playgun Chic Olena, aka “Wes.” Mitchell’s presentation of Playgun Chic Olena’s maneuvers was rewarded by the judges with a 225 for earnings of $60.

The 2005 gelding, by NRHA Seven Million Dollar Sire Smart Chic Olena and out of Mamas Packin, has been part of the Mitchell family since he was 3 or 4 years old.

“He’s so awesome to be around, he’s the nicest horse we have,” Mitchell said. “He’s my favorite to ride, he’s perfect for me. He’s rock-solid in all the maneuvers. I can’t wait to ride him every day. I love him.”

At home, Mitchell enjoys spending time keeping Wes legged up and prepared to go win at the shows. “I love reining, it’s my favorite thing to do,” Mitchell explained.

A seasoned Short Stirrup competitor, Mitchell says he had some nerves to overcome today.

“I was pretty nervous before the run,” Mitchell admitted. “It felt amazing. I can’t complain one bit, he was perfect in all respects. Like I said, he’s good in all the maneuvers. I went in, loped off, I think I heard that I plus-oned my circles, he ran the circles perfectly, his spins were great. My first stop was very good for that horse.”

Reflecting on the final Short Stirrup run of his youth career, Mitchell said, “You know, it felt a little like I really don’t want to leave, but I went out with a bang so I’m as happy as I can be.”

Mitchell, who attends school in Cuba where he plays baseball in addition to riding reiners, was happy that his family was able to watch him today.

“First of all, I would like to thank the good Lord above for keeping me safe, me and my whole family. My whole family helps me. My sister Hannah is showing in the non pro finals today and for the past three years she’s shown at the exact same time as me, so nobody was here to watch me, but this year they got to watch me,” he said.

Mitchell was awarded a weekender duffle from Classic Equine, an Adequan® bucket and bucket strap, a certificate for Anderson Bean Boots, a Classic Equine top load hay bag, a “Dun Gotta Gun” Breyer Horse donated by Pearce, a CINCH Jeans gift certificate, John Deere gloves, and Classic Equine polo wraps and spur straps.

Abigail Dooley took the Short Stirrup reserve title on Top Haida with a 223. Top Haida, by NRHA Twelve Million Dollar Sire Topsail Whiz out of Haida Million, is owned by Lon Kraft. The National Reining Horse Association has announced that longtime Corporate Partner, Bob's Custom Saddles, will be expanding and increasing its sponsorship in 2021. Although details are still being worked out, the new aspects of this sponsorship will come to fruition at next year's NRHA Futurity and Adequan® North American Affiliate Championships with the new Adequan® North American Affiliate Championship Shootouts.

"Bob's Custom Saddles will become the presenting sponsor of three NAAC classes, each of which will have a preliminary round and a final, beginning at the 2021 NRHA Futurity and Adequan® NAAC. The top riders from each preliminary of those three NAAC classes will earn a chance to perform center stage in the Jim Norick Coliseum, where they'll get to compete for even more money and prizes," noted NRHA Senior Director of Corporate Relations and Communications Sammi Miller.

Bob's Custom Saddles has been a staunch supporter of reining at all levels of competition, and this new sponsorship exemplifies its continuing commitment. The Intermediate Non Pro, Intermediate Open, and Rookie Level 2 are the classes that will become a part of this program.

"We are focusing on growth for the reining industry and for ways to attract new people and increase the longevity of the sport," said Chris Weaver, Vice President of Bob's Custom Saddles. "This sponsorship is based on not only growing the overall Reining Futurity but also growing the Reining industry."

Miller added, "We thank the entire Bob's Custom Saddles team for continually going above and beyond in their support of our industry and of NRHA."

More details of the NAAC Shootouts will be forthcoming.

HILDALE FARM PASSES NRHA MILLION DOLLAR OWNER MILESTONE

In the last 54 years of National Reining Horse Association (NRHA) history, only 11 owners have surpassed the million-dollar mark in earnings. Such a momentous achievement is only possible because of teamwork, dedication, and, of course, incredible horsepower, all of which Tammye Hutton's Hilldale Farm has in spades.

In early November, Hilldale Farm unofficially became the Association's twelfth million dollar owner, after Hutton's daughter, Jessicah Keller, piloted Its Snippin Time (Shine Big Time x Snip O Satellite), to a third place finish in the Amateur Reining at the American Quarter Horse Association (AQHA) World Championship Show.

"This is really great. It's nice that NRHA recognizes the owners along with the riders, breeders, sires, and dams," Hutton shared. "I think it's amazing that there is that much money in the sport we can win, and that it's tracked. I never thought we would reach this milestone."

Hutton and her family first became involved with reining in the late 1990s, and Hilldale Farm, still family-owned and operated, became official NRHA members in 1997.

"The first year we just did some local NRHA shows, and 2001 was when Jessicah hauled for the youth world titles," Hutton recalled. "I remember the first significantly larger NRHA event we went to was the Illinois State Fair, and when we were done for the day we got a check. I thought, 'Wow, we won $4,200! Holy smokes, we need to do this more!'"

The winning continued in 2002, when Keller and Nu Chex To Cash won World Championships in the Intermediate and Limited Open, and also took reserve World Championships in the Non Pro and Intermediate Non Pro. That same year, Nu Chex To Cash burst onto the scene as a major sire for Hilldale

Farm, when his son Wimpys Little Step (out of Leolita Step), won the NRHA Futurity Open Championship.

In addition to Wimpys Little Step, Nu Chex To Cash sired several other major earners, including Lil Joe Cash (out of RS Lilly Starlight) and NRHA Million Dollar Sire Big Chex To Cash (out of Snip O Gun). Nu Chex To Cash is now an NRHA Three Million Dollar Sire, while Wimpys Little Step is an NRHA Eleven Million Dollar Sire.

Nu Chex To Cash, an NRHA Hall of Fame inductee in 2010, would also sire Hilldale Farm's biggest money earner, Heavy Duty Chex, who won back-to-back National Reining Breeders Classic (NRBC) Non Pro Classic Championships with Hutton's younger daughter Sarah Locker.

"Nu Chex [To Cash] is the one that really got us where we are," Hutton said. "It was pretty amazing, and it just exploded our business."

A year ago, Hilldale Farm's blue hen mare, Snip O Gun, became only the third NRHA Million Dollar Dam during the NRHA Futurity. It was a fitting accomplishment, as the gorgeous bay mare was also inducted into the NRHA Hall of Fame as part of the 2019 class.

"There have been so many people who have helped us over the years, and gone above and beyond for me, my daughters, and our program," she shared. "I know if I tried to list each one individually, I would accidentally leave someone off the list."

'TIS THE SEASON TO GIVE TO THE REINING HORSE FOUNDATION

Since its creation in 2001, the Reining Horse Foundation has existed to help reiners in need, preserve National Reining Horse Association history, create opportunities for youth, and shine a positive beacon on the entire reining industry. In 2020, the organization may have missed out on holding its signature Sliders' Night Out fundraiser presented by Toyon Ranch, but its direction remained the same, as did the needs of the many programs it supports.

Notwithstanding the challenges of the year, the philanthropic arm of NRHA kept its focus on expanding fundraising and continuing its mission. Helping reiners through the Dale Wilkinson Memorial Crisis Fund, providing youth leadership development and scholarships, and perpetuating the sport's history through the NRHA Hall of Fame were made possible by a variety of fundraisers.

Opt-in donations, Affiliate fundraisers, memberships in the Reiners Club, Foundation grants, Facebook birthday donations, AmazonSmile support, and memorial gifts breathed hope in troubled times and kept the spirit of giving alive. Additionally, NRHA Professionals gave in unprecedented numbers and there was an increase in international giving.

It was an opportune time for new avenues of giving as the pandemic created challenges for a cross section of the reining industry. "Every day, we see the need within our industry. By giving, individuals and businesses have the power to make such a difference in the reining community. Gifts of every size are meaningful," said Reining Horse Foundation Executive Director Leslie Baker.

"In my case, one simple $25 donation to the Reining Horse Foundation led to a $100 donation and then to more," said Tim Anderson, president of the volunteer led RHF Board of Directors. "I began by wanting to help other reiners enduring a tragedy of some sort. What I discovered is that helping others gives me an overwhelming feeling of goodness and purpose. When you are doing your holiday shopping and year-end giving, I hope you will remember the reining community that we all love."

Besides topping off your Christmas list, there are plenty of reasons to give before the end of the year, including new tax benefits. The CARES (Coronavirus Aid, Relief and Economic Security) Act enacted this year expands charitable giving incentives and allows taxpayers who take the standard deduction to make up to $300 of charitable contributions to qualified charities. For those who itemize their deductions, the new law allows for cash contributions to qualified charities to be deducted up to 100 percent of their adjusted gross income for the 2020 calendar year. Donors who make year-end gifts to the 501(c)3 nonprofit Reining Horse Foundation by December 31 may gain the maximum benefit of these tax incentives.

Giving to the Reining Horse Foundation is easy. Gifts can be made digitally in ReinerSuite, by texting "RHF" to (405) 300-5919, or via PayPal or credit card at www.reiningfoundation.com/donate, or simply by mailing a check to the NRHA office at 3021 W. Reno Ave., Oklahoma City, OK 73107.

NRHA NOMINATION™

NRHA NOMINATION DEADLINE QUICKLY APPROACHING

Tie a ribbon around your finger because a very important deadline for reining horses is near at hand. The opportunity to nominate weanling foals into the National Reining Horse Association Nomination program at the lowest rate ends on January 10.

The National Reining Horse Association's Nomination Program was created to grow its North American and European Futurities and Derbies to new heights through enhanced payouts. It has done that through allocating 60 percent of all the fees to the Futurities and 40 percent to the Derbies after a 10 percent retainage. Simply put, the enrollment of foals creates additional added money to the purses at the Futurities and Derbies which saw a 42% increase in the North American Open Futurity in the very first year.

Although the nomination programs for the North American and the European regions are separate, there is an "option" fee available so that horses can become eligible to enter both the North American and European Programs. —One hundred percent of the Option fees is allocated to their respective Nomination Program. Nominating foals makes them eligible to compete in the NRHA Futurity and/or Derby of their respective regions when they come of age.

When a horse competes and wins money at one of the Futurities or Derbies, the nominator receives 5% of the earnings! It does not matter if the nominator still owns the horse or not. For example, at the 2020 NRHA Futurity, although Arcese Quarter Horses was both the owner and nominator of open futurity champion All Bettss Are Off, had the horse changed hands, Arcese Quarter Horses would have still received $12,500 of the winner's $250,000 purse.

Any horse can be nominated, and the original nominator can never be changed. NRHA Member and Show Services/Nomination Representative Emily Rush said, "We are so fortunate to have ReinerSuite available to us now, because it really is the fastest and most economical way to nominate a horse. The $10 handling fee is waived when you do it online, and you receive an instant digital confirmation." When members log in to ReinerSuite, they can get guidance on how to complete nominations in the Resources Library.

The deadline for 2020 foals is approaching quickly! After January 10, the fees double until January 31st after which date the foal is considered a yearling and the fees adjust appropriately.

More information, including nomination forms, can be found at nrha.com/nomination.

2020 NRHA MARKET INSURANCE FUTURITY SALES INCREASE AVERAGE SALE PRICES ACROSS THE BOARD

Uncertainty surrounded many aspects of the 2020 National Reining Horse Association (NRHA) Futurity, including the NRHA Market Insurance Futurity Sales. With numerous COVID-19 constraints imposed on the event, including changing the location to Arena 6 and condensing the Sales to one day instead of three, everyone waited to see what the result would be. Would the new format work for buyers and sellers? What would the averages be? Would buyers show up?

Those worries were quickly assuaged. The buyers came and stayed from beginning to end – both in person and online – and the bidding was vigorous. Although fewer horses were consigned in the Futurity Prospect Sale than in the previous year, the sale average was substantially higher. The 23 horses through the ring averaged $35,522 against the prior year's $34,257, while the 16 horses sold averaged $37,235, obliterating 2019's average of $33,086.

That momentum continued in the Select Yearling Sale, where the 108 horses through the ring averaged $22,856, and the 96 sold averaged $22,697. That was up from $20,919 and $21,322, respectively.

In the Marketplace Sale, 60 horses went through the ring, averaging $14,367, compared to $13,046 in 2019. With only three pass outs, the remaining 57 sold averaged $14,088, compared to the prior year's $13,718.

New for 2020 was the Select Breeders Sale, which showcased 21 horses that averaged $27,571. The 19 that sold averaged $29,111.

The overall high seller was Im Gunna Shine, a 2010 stallion by Gunner out of Shiner Light by Shining Spark purchased by Onofre Gomez from California for $95,000.

Angie Honeywell, NRHA Senior Manager of Futurity Sales was excited about the success of the sales. "Overall, they went really well and everyone seemed to embrace the changes."

One of those changes, the new online sales option, provided real convenience for buyers unable to attend in person. "We had a lot of bidding online and actually sold 11 horses to online buyers."

"The atmosphere at this year's sale was very upbeat," noted NRHA Sale Committee member Jake Dahl. "I think that the one-day format this year was great. Everyone was in sale mode all day – either buying or selling. You saw more trainers there looking at yearlings and two-year-olds than I ever remember, and overall, there was a positive feel. Both buyers and sellers were upbeat.”

Dahl, who serves on the sale committee with Chairman Clint Haverty and members Casey Hinton, Fred Thomsson, Spence Bell, John Tague and Rosanne Sternberg, added, “That vibe seemed to start during the Wednesday night preview and just stayed consistent throughout the sale.”

NRHA Chief Financial Officer John Foy commented, “2020 has been a challenge for many equine associations, including the NRHA. We had seen a reduction in some of our revenue line items and had to make expense adjustments to offset those. So, we were very hopeful that the futurity and sale would perform well not only for the association but for the industry as a whole.”

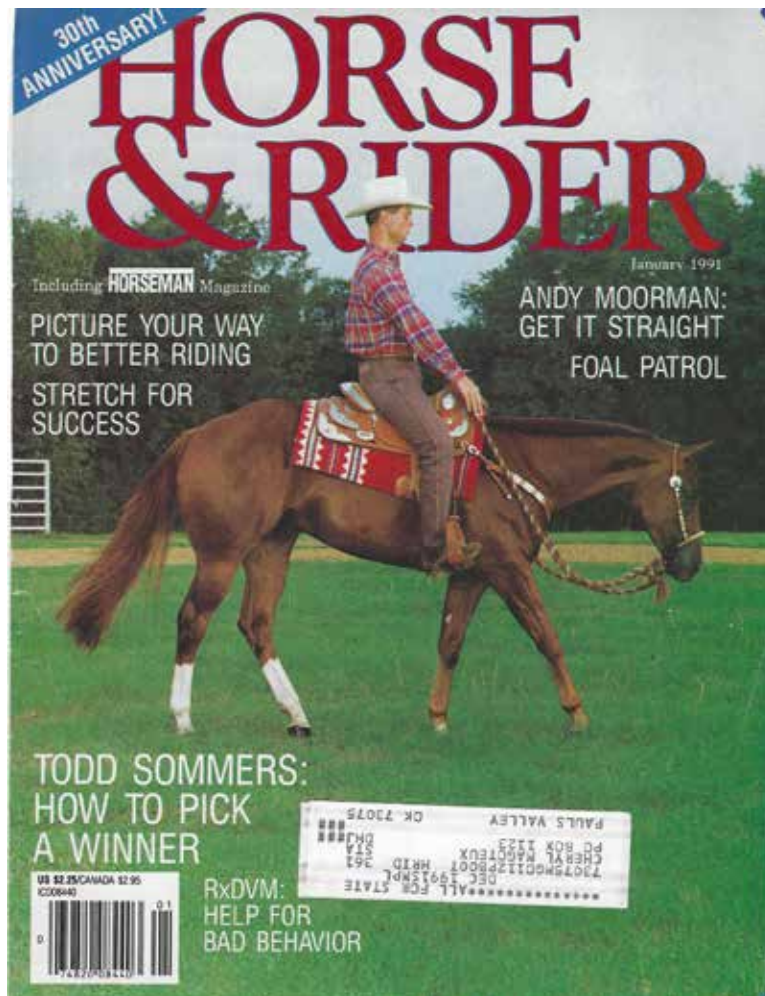

The hopes became reality when the North American Affiliate Championships at the Futurity had record entries and payouts and the show came very close to breaking the overall payout record set in 2012. “Plus, the total sold for the entire sale was the best it has been since 2007. Foy added,

“It goes without saying that the NRHA Board and Management all very appreciative of everyone who participated in the sale and the show!”

Along with the upbeat tempo there was a distinct poignancy during sale, with many folks wearing masks with stickers that read “Mask up for Doug” in memory of the late Doug Carpenter, who passed away due to COVID-19 the week before the futurity began.

Carpenter, a wheelhorse on the sale committee, had predicted the Sale’s success back in November, referencing the quality of the horses consigned. “I have never seen the depth of the horses we are selling – not only in how well-bred they are but also in their conformation. I think we are seeing the breeding coming together – throughout the industry people are breeding great mares to great stallions and it really shows,” he said.

Planning is already underway for the 2021 NRHA Market Insurance Futurity Sales, and information will soon be available. To learn more, contact Angie Honeywell at ahoneywell@nrha.com or 405-946-7400.

TODD SOMMERS:

Selecting A Two-Year-Old Futurity Prospect

FOR Todd Sommers, selecting a two-year-old Western pleasure futurity prospect is serious business. In the past five years, Sommers' name has become synonymous with excellence in the Western pleasure show ring, and his ability to spot star potential in a young horse has helped catapult him to the upper echelon of the pleasure horse world.

"In 1989, I looked at over 200 colts to find the two I picked to show in '90. It's essential to know what you are looking for. Have a mental picture of your perfect prospect and try to find a colt that fits as many of the requirements as possible. I like to look at colts in December and January as long yearlings or just turned two-year-olds. I don't like evaluating weanlings or yearlings, because they change too much. The later I can look at them, the better."

Todd is looking for a particular type of horse—an individual physically and psychologically suited for winning in today's world-class Western pleasure events.

Looks Count

When considering a prospect, Todd begins by taking a look at the colt in his natural environment. "When I walk into the barn, I want to see the colt loose in the stall. Does this horse stand out? Do I walk in and think 'this is a pretty horse?'"

According to Todd, in our contemporary show ring, looks do matter. "Nowadays, judging devotes a larger percentage of total ranking to conformation and what the horse looks like. You can bet that a gorgeous horse that's a little better than average mover will win over an ugly horse that's a great mover, so you need a horse that stands out."

Viewing the horse in a stall also gives the trainer an idea of the colt's overall disposition and mental attitude.

Viewing a horse loose in his stall gives Todd an idea of his overall disposition, mental attitude, and eye appeal; he likes to see a quiet, relaxed horse with his ears up

"I like the horse to be quiet and relaxed, with his ears up and alert as he looks at me. A lot of times if a young horse behaves badly in his stall (pinning his ears and acting up), that conduct will come out later in his training."

After he has looked at the horse in a stall, Todd has a handler lead him out and stand him up like a halter horse for a detailed head-to-tail evaluation. "Beginning with the head, I think a big, soft eye indicates a quieter horse. I like a shorter ear, but the head itself can be a little long because I can disguise that with the bridle when showing. As to the mouth, a lot of people say a shallow mouth is more sensitive than a long one, but I haven't seen a lot of difference. I tend to think tougher mouths are due to the rider."

Todd Sommers' name has become synonymous with excellence in the Western pleasure show ring, and his ability to spot star potential in a young horse has helped catapult him to the upper echelon of the Western pleasure horse world.

Todd's gaze then moves naturally to the horse's neck. "I don't think a horse's neck can be too long. I like long-necked horses because they have a prettier, more graceful appearance on the rail. I want the neck to begin with a small, tight throatlatch, and tie into the shoulders fairly low, but without a wide base. The bottom of the neck should not tie into the shoulder too low."

The way the neck ties into the shoulders is commonly affected by the shoulders themselves. "If the horse has a very straight shoulder, the neck will come out low. The more slope to the shoulder, the higher the neck comes out."

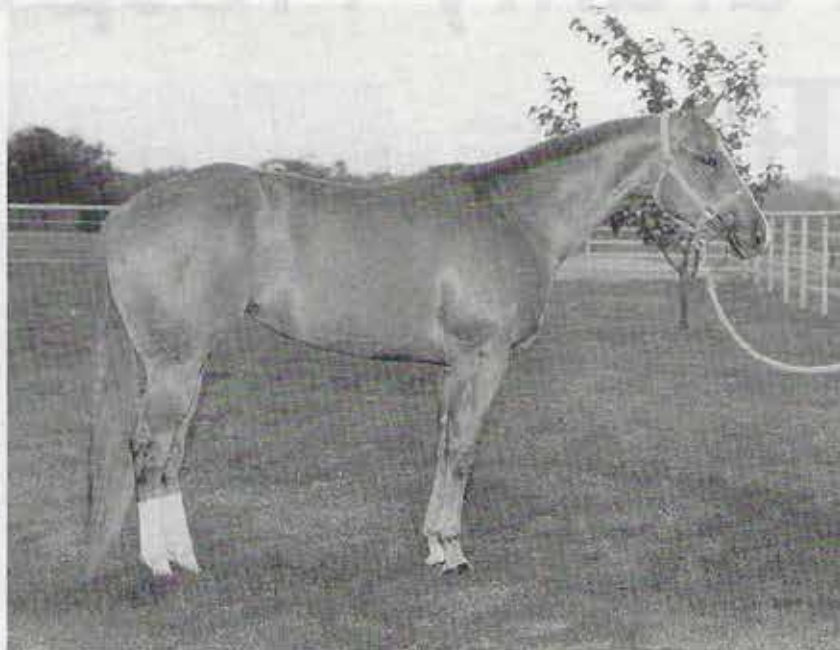

Of course, the neck can be too high, as well. "If the horse is built so that it is uncomfortable for him to carry his head in a straight line from poll to withers to hip, then he'll be penalized for it."

A horse's shoulders have a profound affect on the way he travels, according to Todd. "A straight-shouldered horse will pick his feet straight up and down, while a horse with more slope will reach more and take bigger steps. The ideal for Western pleasure is somewhere in between because you want a flat, sweepy lope with a long stride, but you also want a slow trot that's not too long-strided." He notes that it is hard for a horse to have both a good lope and a good trot. "A horse with too little slope is usually a good trotter but has a choppy lope."

Construction of the withers is key, also. "You'll notice that horses with straight shoulders usually have flat, round withers. A horse with a sloping shoulder will normally have high withers. High-withered horses are normally good lopers, low-withered horses are usually good trotters."

"When a horse is standing still and level, I like the withers to be slightly higher than the hips. If they are, it's easier for the horse to drive from behind. But if his shoulders are lower than his hips, he has to pick up his front end even more to drive from behind."

Todd explains that when a horse moves there is a rocking motion—when the shoulders go up, the hips go down and vice versa. If the shoulders are already up, it's easier to drive the horse's hips under him.

According to Todd, a big, soft eye indicates a quiet horse (top left). He also likes a shorter ear, but doesn't worry much about the length of a horse's head as a show bridle can disguise it. For a more graceful appearance on the rail, this pro likes a long neck with a small, tight throatlatch, that ties into the shoulders fairly low (top right). When standing still (above), Todd likes to see a horse's withers slightly higher than his hips so he doesn't have to pick up his front end to drive from behind.

Of course, there are no absolutes in the horse business. "I've seen horses that look like they wouldn't be able to do anything that are beautiful movers." The problem is, horses with bad conformation are having to work harder.

"If a horse is built wrong and moves well, it's more physically demanding for him to do the work and there is a greater chance of him breaking down. He'll be more prone to lameness (especially if he is being worked as a two or three-year-old). If the horse is conformationally made to do what you want him to do, it will be easier for him."

A Leg Up

Next, Todd turns his attention to the front legs. "I want to make sure there are no flaws—that everything is positioned right. I don't want a real fine or coarse horse—just a middle of the road structure. I have found that most coarse horses move a little cloddy or clumsy, and a horse that is too fine-boned has trouble holding up."

He walks to the front of the horse and feels his legs for any injuries or splints. "Then I look at the horse from the front. As long as it's not excessive, a horse that's a little toed-in or toed-out does not bother me. It seems that sometimes if they toe out, they are a little flatter kneed.

"I like to see a horse with a good 'V' to his chest. I have found that flat-chested horses generally move bow-legged. As to the width between the front legs, if a horse is too wide, he'll tend to swing his legs outward instead of forward. If he's too narrow, he is more likely to interfere with himself."

Next, Todd moves around to the side to evaluate the leg more thoroughly. "Look at the angle of the pastern. If it is straight up and down, that tells me this horse is more likely to be bouncy at the trot and rough at the lope." A long pastern indicates a longer, smoother stride, but usually means too much spring in the trot. A long pastern also causes more pull on the flexor tendon at the back of the cannon area, says Todd.

"My ideal is somewhere in between. A long pastern usually has too much slope, while a shorter pastern is usually more straight up and down. I want a foot that has the same natural angle as the pastern, and I like a horse that grows toe and heel equally. If he grows more toe and less heel, it stresses the pastern and back of the ankle. If I have a horse with uneven hoof growth, we generally shoe him every four weeks instead of every six."

Todd assesses the back next. "I don't like a long-backed horse. These horses can be driving just as far up under themselves as short-backed horses when they are working, but their back legs don't get as close to their front legs so they don't appear to be moving as well. A long-backed horse will look like he's behind himself at a trot, and will appear strung out."

He also evaluates the heartgirth. "Usually if a horse is real deep in the heartgirth, he'll be heavy on his front end. A shallow heartgirth will result in him not being very strong in his shoulders."

The angle of the croup also has a lot to do with how a horse moves. "If there is a natural slope to his croup, his hind legs set up underneath him. If a horse has a real short croup, his hind legs are out behind and he can't reach up underneath himself.

"I like a horse that's strong behind, with the muscles on the back of the hip tying in low and smooth, as close to the hock as possible. Shorter muscles usually tie in higher and result in a shorter stride."

For Todd, the stronger the horse is behind, the better, as he feels strength and impulsion come from behind. "To go slow and pleasure lope, they have to drive from behind and need all the strength there they can get to sustain that lope."

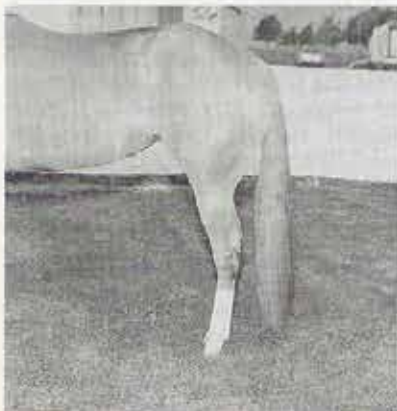

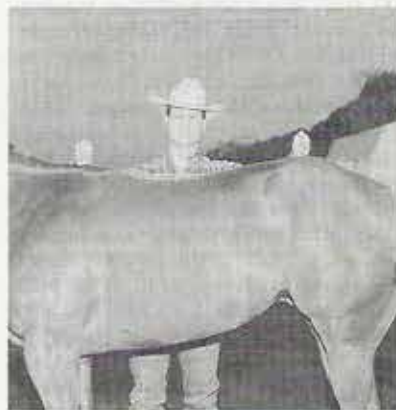

Looking at the horse from the side, he likes to see a tail that ties in flat. "That makes it look as though the hocks are up underneath the horse. On the other hand, a horse with a high tail-set usually carries his tail too far up and away from his body, which makes his hocks appear to be way out behind. Usually the lower the tail ties in the better a horse will carry it."

Since all judges aren't able to discern the subtle differences that make a great mover, "details like tail carriage that help present a pretty picture are important."

Todd prefers straighter hocks on a pleasure horse. "At the lope, a pretty mover swings his leg from the stifle, not the hock. The hock appears not to bend much and the whole leg swings forward. When there is an exaggerated angle to the stifle and hock, a horse has to pick up his legs more and doesn't appear as 'sweepy,' or fluid. With an excessive angle, a horse will often be weak in the hocks. The increased angle results in more stress and more medical complications.

"I don't want a high (long) cannon bone—it makes the hock too high. That type horse usually is higher in the hips than the withers. I don't think you can have hocks too low as long as they are straight."

Todd inspects the hind cannons, pasterns, and feet by running his hand down the leg the same way he did in the front. Next, he views the hind-quarters from the side and rear. "I look for a strong hip. At the point of the stifle, I like to see the muscles bulge

For durability and quality of movement, Todd looks for bone that's neither too fine nor too coarse, a good "V" in the chest, and front legs that aren't too wide or too narrow (top left). He likes a short back (top right) because this brings the horse's hind legs closer to his front legs at the trot. For strength behind, Todd looks for a sloping croup, muscles that tie in low and smooth at the back of the hip, and hocks that are straight and low (bottom left). When viewed from the rear, (bottom right) the hind legs should be absolutely straight. If a horse toes out or in, his foot will twist when it hits the ground, making the hock appear weak or shaky.

Meet Todd Sommers

Originally from Indiana, Todd Sommers started riding early and was training outside horses while still in high school. He won the North American Non-Pro Reining Futurity in 1981, then in 1984, he went to work for Tommy Manion in Aubrey, Texas. A year later he took a job with pleasure and cutting horse trainer Jody Galyean in Ardmore, Oklahoma and began to show Western pleasure horses on a national level a year later.

Sommers has made his mark in the Western pleasure and reining worlds since he rode Interest Only to win the Pleasure Celebration's three-year-old snaffle bit competition in 1986. That same year, he placed in the major two-year-old futurities aboard Gypsy Ballerina and won the Heart of Texas futurity with Mi Lady Investor. The next year he won the Texas Breeders Futurity four-and-over competition aboard Dandy Jay West.

In January of 1988, Todd and his wife, Marquelon, opened their own training operation, specializing in work with futurity horses in Western pleasure, hunter under saddle, barrel racing, and reining. He celebrated the opening of the new facility by riding Sheza Royal Colonel to win the limited open division at the National Reining Horse Association Futurity, and took top honors at the 1988 Texas Classic with Dont Skip Charlie. A highlight of the 1989 season was winning the Solid Gold Three-Year-Old Snaffle Bit Futurity.

Todd often lunges a horse himself to see if the horse alters his way of going. At the trot, he likes to see a relaxed horse with his head almost level, and a two-beat diagonal gait with the right front and left rear feet hitting the ground at the same time.

a little bit, because a good loper swings from the stifle.

"I don't like a cowhocked or bowlegged horse—I want him really straight behind. If a horse toes out or in, when his foot hits the ground, it twists in or out, making the hock appear weak or shaky."

He has the handler walk the horse away from him, and carefully watches to make sure the horse's hock action is straight, not twisting. The horse's feet should set down flat and even when they hit the ground. If he puts weight on one side, then another, and is not straight, steady, and strong, it puts more stress on one side or another. "If there is any irregularity, I make sure it's not due to faulty shoeing or trimming."

Size 'Em Up

"Size-wise, I like a horse in the 14.2 to 15.2-hand range. I like that mid-range because a short horse generally has a short stride, and a tall one a long stride—I want a medium stride. Remember, in December or January when you're looking at two-year-olds, they are going to grow. A 15.1-hand horse will be 15.3 by the time you show!"

Todd continues, "I like a gray or black horse or a really flashy bay—something that stands out in a class. A real deep sorrel is pretty, too. You want something eye-catching."

Although he favors a flamboyant horse, Todd prefers a minimum of white on the legs. "When a horse has a lot of white on his front legs, it can look like he has more motion than he does. I prefer horses with solid front legs. White makes the movement look quicker. A horse has to be exceptionally 'slow-legged' to have white legs and still appear to be moving slow."

When he has completed his evaluation, Todd is ready to watch the horse move. "I have the handler take the horse out and longe him to let him get the freshness out. You don't want him dead tired, but you do want to evaluate the horse moving relaxed in both directions, not jumping around."

Todd stands in the middle of the circle with the handler and watches the horse trot around him. "You see more there—you see what the judge will see. The judge won't see him from in front or behind. Sometimes flat-kneed horses swing out and forward, and you don't see that from the side. You just see a flat, sweeping motion."

"I want to see that the horse doesn't leave his hocks out behind him. At the trot, I want a clear, two-beat diagonal, with the right front and left rear feet hitting the ground at the same time, then the left front and right rear. If the front foot hits first and the hind next, his hocks are late and he's behind himself. He also shouldn't drag his toes behind or pick them up too high—that will give him too much action at the lope."

"Back to the trot, I like to see him relaxed, with his head out naturally, almost level, and his tail relaxed, not stuck straight out."

Next, he has the handler lope the horse. "I want to see that he really drives strong and hard behind... that his hock appears straight. When he sets his hock down, it should stay there with no shaking.

"I like a horse that lopes slow. If he lopes slow naturally it will be easier for him to lope slow when you ride him. I want to see a good, three-beat lope, not a shuffle or a four-beat. I am looking for a fluid motion; a sweepy, flat knee—so it looks like the knee doesn't bend. I want to see a horse move from the stifle.

"Slow, sweepy legs like that are so important. Even if the horse is covering a lot of ground, it looks like he is going slow. The opposite is true, too. If a horse has choppy, fast legs, then even when he is going slow, he'll look like he is going really fast."

Often Todd will longe the horse himself to see if he tries to go into a four-beat when he slows down at a lope. "Sometimes a handler will feel the horse start to slow down and speed him up to prevent that. I want to give him a chance to do it so I know whether he will alter his way of going."

If Todd likes both conformation and movement, he'll look at the horse's breeding if the prospect is a stallion or mare. "With a gelding, the option isn't there, but with a mare or stallion, I want to know that the bloodline is something popular and marketable. Later, if the horse becomes sore, hurt, or unshowable, I can sell him as a breeding horse.

"If I want the horse, I'll determine the price and make sure it fits the animal. Always try to get the most horse for your money—then have him vet checked.

"I always prefer to have my veterinarian check my horses. If the horse is far away, I might have the owner's vet do the X-rays, then send them to my vet to read. With a two-year-old, you want the vet to evaluate how the growth plates (physes) are coming along and if they're growing like they should at the correct rate of speed. The vet will also make sure there is no epiphysitis (inflammation of the growth plates).

"I always have the vet X-ray ankles, knees, hocks, stifles, and front feet. I'd rather spend a few hundred dollars finding out if a horse is sound than spend several thousand later and wind up with one that's crippled.

"The vet will be looking for flat spots in the hocks and stifles that might indicate too much concussion at a young age. He will also look for smaller joint spaces, chips, or early signs of arthritis.

"If the horse checks out sound, I will complete the sale, satisfied that I have done my part to find a good, sound, talented prospect with a bright future in the show ring." ★
